

GAMUT Workshop: Advancing Quality Through Benchmarking and Collaboration

DATE and TIME: Sunday, October 25, 2026 - 1pm-5pm

Cost: $100 – includes CEs and notebook

Whether you're new to GAMUT or a long-time participant, this interactive workshop will provide a comprehensive update on the current state and future direction of GAMUT. We'll begin with a brief history of GAMUT and how it has evolved into an international quality improvement collaborative for medical transport programs. Participants will receive updates on recent enhancements, new initiatives, and upcoming changes to the database and metrics.

The workshop will also include a guided review of the GAMUT database, highlighting available reports, benchmarking capabilities, and practical strategies for using data to drive quality improvement. Finally, we'll showcase successful quality improvement projects completed by participating programs, demonstrating how benchmarking data can be translated into meaningful changes in clinical practice and patient outcomes.

Attendees will leave with a better understanding of how to maximize the value of their GAMUT participation, identify opportunities for improvement within their own programs, and connect with colleagues who are advancing transport medicine through data-driven quality improvement.
