The Pyramids at Giza

The Nile has been a repository of stories for millennia. Begin on its western bank in historic Giza, home to the last surviving wonder of the ancient world. Fly to Luxor to explore the grandeur of ancient Thebes, then board the Jaz Regent for a four-night Nile cruise, travelling in comfort as the river unfolds around you and reveals its tales of antiquity.

Along the way, enjoy private shore excursions to iconic archaeological sites, places of medical-historical significance, and contemporary healthcare centres. Conclude in Aswan, where you'll experience Nubian culture in one of the Nile's most fertile and captivating landscapes.

Travel with Professor Richard Smith, an experienced and popular tour leader and the renowned gynaecological surgeon responsible for the UK's first womb-transplant baby. Benefit from his expertise on visits exploring modern healthcare and maternity practices in Egypt, while gaining unique insights into childbirth and women's health in the ancient world.

There is an optional 3-night extension to the city of Alexandria and the battlefield of El Alamein after the tour. Alexandria, founded by Alexander the Great, was the seat of Queen Cleopatra, the site of the Pharos Lighthouse and the Great Library of Alexandria, known as the ultimate archive of classical knowledge.

THIS TOUR IS CLASSED AS:

Level 3 | Moderate

Regular walking at destinations, extended standing and /or increased travel distances. Good fitness is required.

'The choice of Richard as tour leader, was the essential factor of the success of the trip. Very caring to each person, genteel and cheerful.'

Suzan Soliman, Nepal and Bhutan O & G, March 2023

Tour Leader

Professor J. Richard Smith MD, DSc, FRCOG is a consultant gynaecological surgeon at the Queen Charlotte's and Hammersmith Hospitals, Imperial College NHS Trust and Honorary Consultant in Transplantation Surgery at Oxford University Hospitals. He was Adjunct Associate Professor at the New York University School of Medicine from 2001 to 2021 and is currently Professor of Practice, Imperial College. A graduate from the University of Glasgow he is also an honorary consultant at the Royal Brompton Hospital.

His sub-specialisation of gynaecology is oncology, and within this he specialises in gestational trophoblastic disease, ovarian germ cell tumours, cervical cancer and vulval disease. During his career, he co-invented the procedure of radical abdominal trachelectomy, and the modified Strassman procedure to allow fertility sparing surgery for women with rare uterine tumours. He also invented the Smith's safety needle holder.

He is the Chairman of Womb Transplant UK Charity and leader of this research team. He is an Honorary Consultant in Transplantation

Surgery at the University of Oxford hospitals. He is also involved with research related to endometrial transplantation, endometrial stem cell research and novel treatments for vulval cancers.

Richard has published widely, with over 200 peer-reviewed publications as well as numerous reviews and articles and several books. He spends his time between London, where he lives on a houseboat, and Scotland, where he lives at the south end of an island, in the middle of nowhere. Richard has previously led successful tours to Scotland, Nepal and Bhutan, and Japan.
