Travel in and to Japan

Most transport on this tour is based on Japan's excellent, immaculate and efficient public transport system. The group will travel between cities by bullet train. Transport within cities is often by metro and bus. All hotels are walking distance from the railway stations. As travel is mostly by public transport, a good level of fitness is important for all participants. This tour includes regular walking on a daily basis.

As there is limited space for luggage on the bullet trains, large bags will be sent separately ahead of the group by overnight transfers. Participants will use hand luggage for those nights. This cost is included in the tour.

All hotels are modern 4- or 5-star accommodation. Please note that Japanese hotel rooms can be smaller than in other destinations.

Flights to and from Japan are not included with this package. We can help organise these flights. If booking your own flights, please book a flight into Tokyo – Haneda is the closest airport. When returning, if flying back via Tokyo, book a connecting flight from Kobe airport. If returning via Osaka (KIX) International Airport please ensure your flight departs from midday onwards to take advantage of the daytime rail and bus services from Kobe. Taxis in Japan are very expensive.
