Superannuation is 12% on top of your base salary.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This is a guide only, naturally salaries do range between companies depending on the size and scale of projects they focus on. A smaller commercial fit out/refurbishment/building contractor for example would have lower salary bands.

Car allowances/company cars can also form part of the package for certain roles depending on travel requirements.

Superannuation is Australia's compulsory retirement savings system. It is money set aside and invested over your working life, so you have funds to live on when you retire. Employers must contribute a percentage of your earnings into a super fund, and you can add extra voluntary contributions. You generally can't access your super until you reach the legal retirement conditions, such as turning 60 and retiring or turning 65.
