TOTALLY RAD: BEAN DOUBLES UP WITH USAC RADICAL FOCUS TITLE IN 2021

By: Richie Murray – USAC Media

Not once but twice is nice!

After wrapping up her fifth consecutive USAC Eastern Focus Midget championship, Jessica Bean added a dessert to her racing accomplishments in 2021.

One month later, in November, with five victories in nine starts already in hand, the Farmland, Ind. native collected her very first Radical Focus Midget driving title, her sixth overall USAC driving championship.

USAC's winningest woman driver dominated the Radical standings from start to finish, winning the first four features of the season in her Radical Racing No. 5, sweeping both nights at Arizona's Havasu 95 Speedway in March. She added two more back-to-back nights in August at Kentucky Motor Speedway and at Tennessee's Veterans Motorplex. With her fifth and final score in September at Idaho's Meridian Speedway, in Chuck Groat's No. 5, Bean's championship was already well in hand.

Bean's 86-point margin of victory in the championship came with Nathan Byrd (Goodyear, Ariz.) as the series runner-up. Third-place finisher Hunter Wise (Allentown, Pa.) was a winner in August at Nashville Fairgrounds Speedway.

Randy Schaaf and Casey Tillman each scored first career USAC victories with the Radical series in 2021. Schaaf (Fife, Wash.) triumphed in September at Meridian while Tillman (Boise, Idaho) was victorious in the penultimate round at Havasu 95 in November.

Meanwhile, Chris Lamb (Colfax, N.C.), the USAC Eastern Focus series' all-time winningest driver with 55 victories, notched his first with the Radical Midgets in the season finale at Havasu 95.

Lake Havasu, Arizona (March 19, 2021).....Jessica Bean (Farmland, Ind.) became the winningest female driver in USAC history Friday night with her victory in the Radical Focus Midget season opener at Arizona's Havasu 95 Speedway.
