

It Feels Good to Be a Gamester

By: Richie Murray

"The first car I ever raced was a midget. I had always worked on the family racecars and all I ever wanted to do was drive a midget. We've been doing this for almost 30 years, and it would be a very special goal for us."

The words spoken by Russ Gamester at the dawn of the 1989 USAC Jolly Rancher National Midget season spoke volumes about the soul, sacrifice and dedication the Peru, Ind. team invested into their decades-long yearn to reach the pinnacle of the sport. In the final year of the 80s, Russ, his brother George and father Gary, stood at the mountaintop as driver and entrant champs.

Russ charged to three victories: at the Allen County War Memorial Coliseum in Fort Wayne, Ind.; Pa.'s Grandview Speedway; and Kansas' Thomas County Speedway, while also racking up the series' Most Improved Driver honors.

While Russ built the engine, George was the set-up man on the market's newest brand of chassis, a Bob East construction called a "Beast." Despite spectacular performances by the Pontiac, Cosworth, Gaerte and SESCO engines throughout the season, 24-year-old Russ utilized a homebuilt, Autocraft Volkswagen. Together, the combo made magic happen in 1989.

"That proves it's not always money that does it," Russ said. "We didn't have a lot of financing, but we were consistent all year long. You still must prepare the car right and it's about the only Volkswagen that's been right there all the time. We had a second engine but blew it up on the Springfield mile and (this one) had a lot of races on it."

The season saw 21 winners in 36 races. Rich Vogler captured the most with five, including the rain-shortened, 380-lap Indy Midget 500 at the Indianapolis Speedrome as well as his eighth Hut 100 triumph at Lawrenceburg Speedway where he became the first and only driver to win the event at three different venues. The race was held at "The Burg" following two rainouts at Lincoln Park Speedway and due to the unavailability of the still-shuttered Terre Haute Action Track.

In August, Vogler became the winningest driver in USAC history in terms of all-time feature triumphs by capturing the 25-mile Rex Easton Memorial at the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield, the 163rd of his career. Speaking of milestones, Mel Kenyon scored his 111th and final USAC win in the season opener at the Peoria Civic Center in Illinois, then reached another landmark when he started his 1,000th overall USAC feature at Georgia's Lanier Raceway.

Tom Bigelow returned to the winner's circle twice, including the Indoor Hoosier Hundred at Fort Wayne in January, which was the final auto race ever contested at the old coliseum, which had annually held midget races dating back to 1952 with AAA, and also hosted USAC's first race in 1956. Coliseum officials prohibited racing in the building following renovations that included a new floor coating and were concerned that auto racing might do permanent damage to the surface.

Bigelow also notched his final career USAC main event win at Louisville (Ky.) Motor Speedway on May 1, which was the same night 17-year-old Jeff Gordon perused the pits and was introduced to car owner Rollie Helmling. Gordon emerged as the breakout star of 1989 as he won the May 27 Night Before the 500 at Indianapolis Raceway Park in his first career series start as a last-minute hire in a brand new car for Helmling and then won again in July at IRP. Gordon proved his talents to his peers and national television audiences throughout the year enough to be named series Rookie of the Year.

It was a banner year for one of the most unique cars in series history as Mike Fedorcak and his radical creation, Munchkin II, won pavement races at Lanier (Ga.) Raceway, Kalamazoo (Mich.) Speedway and at Iowa's Hawkeye Downs Speedway. Richard Myhre earned his first and only USAC feature score in the original Munchkin I at Ohio's Cloverleaf Speedway.

USAC scorer Sandy Griffith was knocked down from the infield scoring perch after being struck by errant racecars on January 8 at Fort Wayne. Despite a cracked rib and several bruises, she remained at her post for the rest of the event.

Stan Fox won a thriller at Colorado National Speedway in July when he beat Robby Flock to the line by a half-car length. Fox finished the race sans brakes and an ailing engine and failed to make it around to victory Lane on the cool down lap.

Buckeye native Mike Streicher captured a home state victory in August at Ohio's Barberton Speedway. Streicher's Beast chassis bore the serial No. 1. The Gaerte engine under the hood also sported serial No. 1. The first editions of these two makes would soon become fixtures of USAC Jolly Rancher National Midget racing entering the 1990s.

Series Chief Steward Bob Timme received the Jim Blunk award for his dedication and contributions to USAC Midget racing.
