

2010 USAC NATIONAL MIDGET SEASON REVIEW

Awesome Clauson from Noblesville

By: Richie Murray

From the time Bryan Clauson burst onto the Midwest racing scene as a 13-year-old, the most hyped teenage racing sensation since Jeff Gordon lived up to those lofty expectations as a frequent winner on the local circuit. By 2010, the 21-year-old Clauson was among USAC's elite, earning himself a NASCAR opportunity while winning on a regular basis in his USAC outings. In a return to full-time USAC duties this year, BC could finally wear the badge of a USAC National champion.

Through the first eight races, Clauson had won just once, but that one was among the "majors" of the sport, as he captured May's Hut 100, held for the first time at Indiana's Tri-State Speedway, which gave him wins at Belleville, Turkey Night and the Hut 100 in a 10-month span. He remained in the upper crust throughout the early season, then gained the point lead on May 29 after a runner-up finish at O'Reilly Raceway Park and kept the top spot all for himself the rest of the distance.

The "Hut" was the first of a season-leading six victories for Clauson and his Corey Tucker/Keith Kunz/BCI team which made its way into the books as the first series entrant champion to list three different owners. On their path, they posted six fast times, 17 top-fives and 23 top-tens in 29 starts. BC nailed down a pair of victories in June, first in a race that seemingly nobody wanted to win at Illinois' Tri-City Speedway where both Henry Clarke and Tracy Hines fell out while leading.

Thereafter, Darren Hagen tangled with a lapped car while battling Brad Kuhn for first, then Kuhn took over until Clauson assumed the point near midway. BC then added another in the first series event held at Iowa's 34 Raceway in 37 years.

A two-night sweep of the Hall of Fame Classic followed for Clauson at Wisconsin's Angell Park Speedway in late August, and he concluded the year at California's Toyota Speedway at Irwindale as the first back-to-back winner of the Turkey Night Grand Prix since Billy Boat in 1995-96-97, closing the title race with a 138-point rout over runner-up Jerry Coons Jr.

The inaugural pavement championship featured eight events embedded within the full 29-race schedule. Darren Hagen won the pavement title by 33 points over Clauson, reigning in July at Ohio's Toledo Speedway on his 24th birthday. However, it was the dirt where Hagen's moment of the year arrived as he won all three nights of the Gold Crown Nationals at Tri-City, capping the event by streaking past Brad Kuhn for the lead and the win as both eyed the white flag. Tri-City promoters Kevin and Tammy Gundaker, meanwhile, were the recipients of the Jim Blunk Award for their contributions to the series.

Series runner-up Coons won September's 4-Crown at Ohio's Eldora Speedway, one of two victories by Wilke-PAK Motorsports. The first was a record-breaker in July at ORP, which saw Kody Swanson give the team its 134th USAC National win, surpassing Steve Lewis' 133. Kody, along with younger brother Tanner Swanson, were named co-Most Improved Drivers – the first siblings to win the award. The Swansons took both ORP races with Tanner winning in July to become one of three first-time victors along with Shane Hmiel in a March sweep at Hickory (N.C.) Motor Speedway and ARDC champion Steve Buckwalter in June at Gas City. Pavement specialist Daniel Bedford, who vaulted the backstretch wall at the Night Before the 500, was the Rookie of the Year, finishing a best of second at Toledo while slotting 21ST in points.

Brad Sweet was at the top of the standings early in the going as he posted victories in the first two events in February at Arizona's USA Raceway and on the dirt at Las Vegas Motor Speedway when he zipped by Chad Boat with two laps to go. That same night, up-and-comer Alex Bowman flipped during his heat race at Vegas and suffered two broken collarbones, punctured and collapsed lungs, while also breaking all the ribs on his right side, which resulted in a seven-day stay in ICU.

Sweet tallied two more victories, during IMW at Putnamville and on Independence Day at Angell Park with a final lap pass of Coons. Bobby East trekked into the point lead in April with winning performances at Perris (Calif.) Auto Speedway and Anderson (Ind.) Speedway where he became the track's winningest USAC driver, overtaking Hagen on the white flag lap.

Hines also put four in the win column, once during IMW at Lawrenceburg, then was matched the next night by Brad Kuhn's victory at Kokomo, which tied Hines at the top of the IMW standings, making them the first IMW co-champions.

The Comeback Kid, Hines, took two late-race wins in September, with three laps remaining over Kuhn in the Firemen's Nationals at Angell Park, and by Dalton Armstrong with two to go at Ohio's Columbus Motor Speedway, and a more relaxing wire-to-wire showing during the finale, in November's series debut at California's Thunderbowl Raceway. Kuhn celebrated a pair of 2010 scores at Kokomo and in July at Angell Park to finish fourth in points, while Bobby Santos led all but one lap in May at Iowa Speedway and Shane Cottle notched Bloomington in June in an A-Main which featured six flips.
