

1998 USAC NATIONAL SPRINT CAR REVIEW

Tony Elliott of Warsaw, Indiana, long a bridesmaid in USAC competition, finally ascended to the throne in 1998, winning the USAC Stoops Freightliner National Sprint Car championship.

Elliott battled Kevin Thomas for most of the season and eventually finished with a 62-point margin after taking the lead for good with a fifth place finish in September at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

Elliott actually won the series opener at Wisconsin's Beaver Dam Raceway in his Wynn's/Jeff's Jam-It-In Storage Special and added wins in the Larry Rice Classic at Indiana's Bloomington Speedway, the Vince Osman Classic at Indiana's Kokomo Speedway (one of two at Kokomo), and the Jim Hurtubise Classic at Indiana's Terre Haute Action Track. His August Kokomo triumph was worth over $8,000.

Thomas only found victory lane once, at Attica, but added 25 other top 12 finishes.

Derek Davidson, third in the final standings, scored his first two career USAC triumphs in the Sheldon Kinser Memorial at Indiana's Paragon Speedway, and later, in a spectacular 30-lapper at Red Hill Raceway in Sumner, Illinois.

Fourth-ranking Dave Darland beat Elliott by a single point to win the Pennzoil Indiana Sprint Week title after winning the Danny Milburn Classic opener at Lawrenceburg Speedway and the closer at Lincoln Park. He also won at Eldora in May.

Two-time series champ Brian Tyler beat new all-time speed record holder Dave Steele on the final turn to win at Arizona's Phoenix International Raceway paved mile in April, then added wins at Kansas's Lakeside Speedway, as well as Indiana's Winchester and Salem Speedway. Steele, who timed in at a record 144.167 mph at Phoenix, won the Winchester Oldtimers Weekend and Sammy Sessions Classic features.

Kevin Doty earned the Hoosier Tire Most Improved Driver Award with stunning early season performances and victories in the Don Branson-Jud Larson Classic at Eldora, the Robbie Stanley Classic at Lawrenceburg, an Indiana Sprint Week race at Twin Cities Raceway Park, and for a second time at Eldora.

Jason McCord and Brad Armstrong earned career first victories at Indiana's Anderson and Winchester Speedway, respectively, while Chet Fillip won the Rich Vogler Classic at Winchester. Cary Faas scored his third Tony Hulman Classic victory at Terre Haute and Jay Drake notched his first career USAC Sprint Car win in the prestigious 50-lap Joe James-Pat O'Connor Memorial race at Salem.

Jack Hewitt's 4-Crown Nationals sweep was absolutely awesome and Tracy Hines earned the True Value Rookie of the Year Award for his success, including a pair of feature wins at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

Brad Fox also captured a feature during the season, at Lincoln Park.

Series veteran Brian Hayden surprised many with his comeback from burns suffered at Winchester early in the year to post 10 top 10 finishes.
