2018 USAC NATIONAL SPRINT CAR REVIEW

Courtney Claims USAC Sprint Car Throne in Unprecedented Dead Heat Title Race

By: Richie Murray – USAC Media

It's amazing to believe that, after 10 months and 40 races from coast-to-coast, the 2018 USAC AMSOIL National Sprint Car championship was decided in the most dramatic of fashion – on the final lap of the season in the "Oval Nationals" at Perris (Calif.) Auto Speedway.

Drama, agony, ulcers, heartbreak and, ultimately, joy were just a few of the ingredients in the mix for Tyler Courtney and Kevin Thomas Jr. during the final lap of the 23rd annual affair, which provided us with a nail-biter of a race on the track and on the Excel Spreadsheet which was unlike any we've seen in recent times.

Two laps remained for the final round of the yearlong boxing match that had seen the point lead switch nine times among three drivers. As it stood on the final restart with two laps remaining, Thomas was up on Courtney by three markers. Once the green flag fell, though, two distinct races were occurring for the race win and for fourth. Thomas held Chase Stockon and Chris Windom in check behind him for the race lead while Brady Bacon handled Tyler Courtney for fourth as the field passed under the white flag.

Entering the first turn, suddenly, Bacon began to slow as his fuel tank began to run dry. Courtney was right there to capitalize and miraculously moved back into fourth and into the safe zone that he needed to be in to win the title.

Thomas captured his second-straight "Ovals" victory with Courtney fourth, deadlocking both at the top of the standings with 2773 points apiece – the tiebreaker being decided based on Courtney having more feature wins than Thomas.

It's the first such occurrence there's been a dead heat for the title in the 63-year history of the series. It's a record that will never be eclipsed, breaking the previous closest title race from 1965 when Johnny Rutherford defeated Greg Weld by 2.5 points.

"I didn't want to make it that close," Courtney said with a laugh. "To come out our first year as a sprint car team and be the national champions is truly something special. It's not something many people can do, and I've got a great group behind me. I've been busting my tail to get to this step, and it took a lot of people believing in me along the way. It feels like everything's paying off."

At the beginning of the 2018 season, Courtney entered new territory, exiting the TOPP Motorsports team that he had accrued so much success with over the past two seasons, to join the newly-created sprint car team owned by Tim Clauson, Richard Marshall and 1999 USAC Silver Crown champion driver Ryan Newman. The goals may have been lofty to some, but this team meant business from day one and there's no resting on their laurels according to Courtney.

Affectionately known as "Sunshine," Indianapolis, Indiana's Courtney had the spark all throughout the year, winning 11 races along the way – fourth-most all-time and the tenth driver to reach the double-digit mark in a single season. Following a struggle in the season opener in Ocala, Fla. that saw Chase Stockon lock up his lone win of the season, Courtney reeled off two consecutive scores in the final two nights of "Winter Dirt Games."

As the calendar turned to April, Dave Darland collected a milestone 60th victory in his 700th series start while Kevin Thomas Jr. earned the first of his seven series victories the following night at Tri-State Speedway in Haubstadt.

Kevin Thomas Jr. won again to open up the month of May at Plymouth (Ind.) Speedway while Brady Bacon and Chris Windom each tallied their first wins of the season on consecutive nights at Eldora Speedway. Meanwhile, Courtney established his yearlong dominance of the Terre Haute (Ind.) Action Track in the 48th "Tony Hulman Classic."

As the series traveled to the Heartland of America in June, Kevin Thomas Jr. and Courtney established themselves as the guys to beat with victories at Greenwood, Nebraska's I-80 Speedway and Knoxville (Iowa) Raceway. An unprecedented run of six events in six nights greeted Eastern Storm combatants in mid-June. Bacon took the opener at Grandview Speedway for the second year in a row, while Windom captured the next two nights on the half-miles of Williams Grove and Port Royal. Robert Ballou took the reins at BAPS Motor Speedway for his sole "W" of the season. The final two races of the tour ventured to first-time series venues with Kevin Thomas Jr. picking up the win at New Jersey's Bridgeport Speedway and Thomas Meseraull at Weedsport Speedway in New York. Windom took the Eastern Storm crown for the second time in as many years.

A busy July commenced with Courtney capturing a score at Lincoln Park Speedway in Putnamville, Ind., which led into the seven-race, 31st Indiana Sprint Week series." Bacon got the opener at Plymouth, while Courtney scored twice at Lawrenceburg and Terre Haute. Meseraull won Kokomo's ISW round for the second consecutive year and Leary notched his only win of the year at Bloomington. Dave Darland, the all-time ISW win king, won two of the last three races at Lincoln Park and Tri-State. Despite no wins, Windom took his second ISW title.

Windom reached victory lane in the non-points, special event #GYATK Night at Kokomo in August, with Courtney taking night one of Kokomo's "Smackdown," followed by first-time victor Tyler Thomas on night two. Courtney closed out August with another win in the series' first visit to Tri-City Speedway in Granite City, Ill. since 2006.

Jason McDougal opened September with a spectacular score in the series' debut at Pevely, Missouri's Federated Auto Parts Raceway at I-55. Bacon was the man at Terre Haute and Kevin Thomas Jr. backed up his spring win at Tri-State with another in the Fall. Courtney sped to the win at Eldora's "4-Crown Nationals," with Justin Grant finally reaching the promised land in the rain-delayed "Smackdown" finale. Kevin Thomas Jr.' late-race pass netted him the win at Gas City (Ind.) I-69 Speedway the following night while Grant closed out the weekend with another sterling performance at Lawrenceburg.

Grant continued his winning ways as the series traveled west in November, taking the "Western World" opener at Arizona Speedway. Courtney claimed the throne at Arizona the following night. On to Perris, it was Grant once again finding the magic touch to win the first two nights of the "Oval Nationals," but it was Kevin Thomas Jr. becoming the first driver since Dave Darland in 2005-06 to win the $25,000 "Oval Nationals" finale prize in successive years.

Windom Waxes Field in #GYATK Night at Kokomo

By: Richie Murray – USAC Media

Kokomo, Indiana……Fresh off his win at the Springfield Mile, Chris Windom turned up the wick Wednesday night at Kokomo Speedway, leading all 27 laps to win #GYATK Night at Kokomo Speedway, the kickoff to "Sprint Car Smackdown VII."

It was the Canton, Illinois native's third career win during "Smackdown" week, following victories in 2012 and 2015. He came into the USAC AMSOIL National Sprint Car "Special Event" leading both the USAC standings and Kokomo point standings. Though USAC points were not up for grabs on this night, Windom made it a point to grab a victory as he hits his stride coming into the late-summer stretch.

Windom snagged the lead right from the start from the pole position aboard his Baldwin Brothers Racing/Fox Paving – AMSOIL/DRC/Claxton Mopar. Brady Bacon swiftly followed suit, splitting between Tyler Courtney and Justin Grant in turn three to move from fourth to second before being shuffled back to sixth.

Nearing halfway, Windom was glued to the bottom of the racing surface as he led a two-car breakaway in front of Courtney as third-place Grant and fourth-running Dave Darland challenged each other on the topside a half-straightaway back.

By the 13th lap, Windom had reached lapped traffic. However, with the lappers occupying the low line, Windom took the bull by the horns and took his orange No. 5 to the top to drive around the gridlock.

Courtney remained on the bottom and was able to pull within a wheel of Windom at the line at the conclusion of lap 14. Courtney seemed poise to rip the spot away but snagged a hole on the bottom that disrupted his momentum and allowed Windom to break away.

Anywhere Windom saw a gap between lapped machinery, he was eager to get back to the bottom ASAP. Yet Windom was content to run the fence which he's done so many times before at the Kokomo bullring. During the final laps, the 2017 USAC AMSOIL National Sprint Car champ was forced to the top again as he swung around the trio of Scotty Weir, Stevie Sussex and Carson Short with relative ease.

The intense pace saw Windom lap half the field in a caution-free feature, leading all 27 laps on his way to victory over Courtney, Grant, Darland and Bacon.

"That was a lot of fun," Windom exclaimed. "This track was so good, you could run top and bottom. I wasn't sure the top would work when I got to lapped traffic, but I was able to get it working. I saw Tyler's nose down there a few times, so I knew I had to stay up on the wheel. It's awesome to be able to win this race in honor of Bryan Clauson. I've had so many good battles with him here and I ran second to him a lot."
