1. About Alkhidmat Europe – Cairo Office

Alkhidmat Europe's Cairo Office serves as the operational hub for humanitarian programs supporting displaced Palestinian families residing across Egypt. Through strategic partnerships with local organizations, international humanitarian actors, volunteers, and community leaders, the office delivers integrated assistance that addresses immediate humanitarian needs while promoting resilience, dignity, and long-term wellbeing.

The office currently implements a diverse portfolio of programs covering emergency food assistance, family support, orphan sponsorship, education, student accommodation, psychosocial support, and community-based initiatives. Particular emphasis is placed on ensuring that vulnerable households have continued access to essential services despite the challenges associated with prolonged displacement.

All interventions are guided by the humanitarian principles of humanity, neutrality, impartiality, and accountability. Program implementation prioritizes transparency, beneficiary participation, efficient resource utilization, and close coordination with implementing partners to maximize impact and avoid duplication of assistance.

3. Introduction

September 2026 was marked by continued humanitarian needs among displaced Palestinian families and students in Egypt, alongside the ongoing and urgent humanitarian situation in Gaza. In response, Alkhidmat Europe – Cairo Office maintained the continuity of its core humanitarian, educational, and protection-oriented programs while strengthening coordination with local and international partners to address emerging needs.

In Egypt, the Office continued supporting vulnerable Palestinian families through housing assistance, orphan sponsorship, financial assistance, education, student accommodation, and professional internship support. These interventions helped beneficiaries maintain access to essential services and continue their education and professional development despite the economic and social pressures associated with prolonged displacement.

At the same time, Alkhidmat Europe continued contributing to humanitarian relief efforts in Gaza through coordination with local partners. September activities included the distribution of fresh hot meals, continued follow-up and verification of sponsored orphan cases, improved beneficiary data management, and Quranic and educational activities for children. The month also demonstrated the value of strategic partnerships and coordinated humanitarian action. Engagement with organizations such as Resala Charitable Organization and Aghosh UK supported the delivery of food assistance, educational activities, and direct assistance to vulnerable families and children. Regular monitoring, beneficiary follow-up, internal coordination, and data management remained integral to ensuring that assistance was delivered efficiently, transparently, and in line with identified needs.

The month also highlighted the importance of sustained partnerships, regular monitoring, and effective coordination in ensuring that humanitarian assistance remains responsive to identified needs. Through collaboration with local organizations and international partners, the Cairo Office continued to support vulnerable families and children while strengthening accountability and programme quality.

4. Programme Progress Updates

Throughout September 2026, Alkhidmat Europe continued implementing its core humanitarian portfolio for displaced Palestinian families and students in Egypt. Programme activities focused on maintaining essential services, monitoring beneficiary wellbeing, supporting education and professional development, providing housing assistance, and coordinating humanitarian support for Gaza.

4.1 Family Support Program

The Family Support Program continued to provide essential assistance to displaced Palestinian households experiencing financial hardship and housing insecurity. By addressing basic living needs, the program seeks to enhance household stability, reduce vulnerability, and enable families to rebuild their lives with dignity.

Vulnerable Families Housing Support

During September, the organization continued providing safe accommodation for 30 displaced Palestinian families, comprising 149 individuals, residing in host apartments across Cairo.

Regular monitoring visits and follow-up communications were conducted throughout the reporting period to assess living conditions, address emerging needs, and ensure that accommodation standards continued to meet program requirements. Rental payments for supported residential units were processed according to schedule, ensuring uninterrupted housing for beneficiary families.

Permanent Financial Assistance

The permanent financial assistance component remained suspended during the reporting period due to funding constraints. Nevertheless, the Cairo Office continued monitoring previously supported households, documenting evolving humanitarian needs, and identifying priority cases for future assistance once additional funding becomes available.

4.2 Orphans Care Program

Supporting orphaned children remains one of Alkhidmat Europe's flagship humanitarian interventions. The programme seeks to protect children's wellbeing through financial sponsorship, stable accommodation, and continuous case follow-up that supports their educational and social development.

Orphans Sponsorship

During September, 88 orphaned children continued receiving monthly sponsorship support valued at USD 50 per child, amounting to a total monthly disbursement of USD 4,400.

Financial assistance was transferred through Egypt Post, followed by systematic telephone verification to confirm receipt of funds and obtain beneficiary feedback regarding program effectiveness. This post-distribution monitoring mechanism strengthens accountability while allowing the Cairo Office to respond promptly to any concerns raised by beneficiary families.

Housing Support for Orphan Families

The program also continued providing secure accommodation for 10 orphan-headed households, ensuring safe and fully furnished housing for a one-year period.

By combining financial sponsorship with stable housing, the program helps reduce protection risks, strengthens family resilience, and enables orphaned children to continue their education within a safe and supportive environment.

4.3 Learning Support Program

Education remains one of Alkhidmat Europe's highest strategic priorities, recognizing its essential role in protecting displaced children and youth from the long-term consequences of conflict and displacement. Through financial assistance, accommodation support, and community-based education initiatives, the program seeks to ensure uninterrupted learning opportunities for Palestinian students residing in Egypt.

University Student Financial Assistance

During September, 10 Palestinian university students continued receiving financial assistance totaling USD 3,240, enabling them to pursue higher education despite the economic challenges associated with displacement.

Accommodation for Medical Students

The organization continued accommodating 15 Palestinian medical students in three rented apartments at a total monthly cost of USD 1,100.

In addition, 8 new Palestinian medical students from South Africa joined the accommodation program. To accommodate these students, two additional apartments were rented at a total monthly cost of USD 2,000.

This accommodation support enables students to complete their compulsory internship and practical training requirements while reducing financial pressures that could otherwise disrupt their studies and professional development.

Dentistry Internship Support

A total of 32 dentistry students continued their professional internship placements during the reporting period. Alkhidmat Europe provided USD 7,500 to cover internship-related expenses, helping students continue their professional training without financial barriers.

To complement this support, the Cairo Office organized a dedicated follow-up meeting with participating students to review their academic progress, discuss professional challenges encountered during their internships, and identify opportunities for additional guidance and support.

5. Gaza Humanitarian Response

The response focused on four main areas: safe drinking water, hot meal distribution, orphan case management and data verification, and Quranic and educational activities for children. Implementation was supported through continuous field monitoring, coordination with community representatives and families, regular internal team meetings, and systematic documentation of activities and beneficiary information.

Intervention	Key Achievement
Hot Meals	Distribution of 12,000 fresh hot meals for 11,00 beneficiaries across northern, central, and southern Gaza.
Orphan Support	Continuous verification, updating, and monitoring of sponsored orphan records and family circumstances
Data Management	Significant progress in updating electronic records and matching field information with the central database
Quran Program	Continued Quran memorization, recitation, Tajweed, assessment, motivation, and educational activities. 100

	children recognized for completing the required Quran memorization objectives
Coordination	Regular weekly coordination and monitoring meetings maintained throughout the month

6. Conclusion

September 2026 demonstrated Alkhidmat Europe – Cairo Office's continued commitment to providing meaningful and dignified support to displaced Palestinian families and students in Egypt while contributing to humanitarian relief efforts in Gaza. Across the reporting period, the Office maintained essential programs covering housing, financial assistance, orphan sponsorship, education, student accommodation, professional training, and community-based support, ensuring that vulnerable beneficiaries continued to receive assistance despite the challenges associated with prolonged displacement.

Beyond direct assistance, September highlighted the importance of partnership, coordination, monitoring, and accountability in humanitarian programming. Collaboration with local organizations and international partners enabled the Cairo Office to expand its reach, facilitate additional assistance to Gaza, respond to beneficiary needs, and strengthen the effectiveness of ongoing programs. Regular follow-up with families, students, and sponsored children also ensured that interventions remained responsive to changing circumstances.

Looking ahead, Alkhidmat Europe – Cairo Office will continue working to sustain essential services, strengthen beneficiary-centered programming, expand strategic partnerships, and mobilize resources for priority humanitarian needs. The Office remains committed not only to providing immediate relief, but also to creating pathways toward stability, dignity, education, and resilience for displaced Palestinian families and communities.

From relief to resilience, Alkhidmat Europe continues to stand with Palestinian families and children—transforming partnership and compassion into practical action and lasting support.
