BALAKLAVA COMPANY, 5TH BATTALION, THE ROYAL REGIMENT OF SCOTLAND, ON ROYAL GUARD DUTIES

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that The Royal Regiment of Scotland launched its Heritage Appeal at a fundraising dinner in the Mansion House, London on Tue 4 Nov 25?

In 2026, The Royal Regiment of Scotland will celebrate its 20th anniversary – a significant milestone in our regimental history. To mark this occasion, we have launched our Heritage Appeal, a campaign to:

The Colonel of the Regiment, Major General Robin Lindsay CBE, said - “This appeal is about much more than bricks and mortar—it’s about our people. It’s about respecting those that serve today, remembering those who have gone before us and investing for the enduring benevolence of our soldiers, our veterans and their families. Every contribution to the appeal, no matter how small, will make a real difference. Together we can honour our past and shape our future.”

The appeal has three objectives. First, to raise funds for the enduring benevolence of our serving soldiers, our veterans and their families. Second, to fund the design, build and installation of a SCOTS statue in West Princes Street Gardens, Edinburgh, a regimental rally point for commemoration, reflection and pride and to be unveiled in July 2026. Third, to fund the complete redevelopment of our regimental museum in Edinburgh Castle to create a world class visitor experience that will also be the regimental hub for veteran and civic engagement, education and most importantly showcase our distinguished history.

How You Can Help

You can donate to the appeal via the QR code. You can also donate a prize, take part in an auction or participate in the 50/50 raffle. If you are planning a fundraising activity, whether it’s a race, challenge, or community event, please consider supporting the Heritage Appeal as your chosen cause.

Your generosity helps those who need us most and ensures our heritage is preserved for generations to come.

A MESSAGE FROM MAJOR GENERAL ROBIN LINDSAY CBE, COLONEL OF THE REGIMENT

As we approach the Christmas period, I wanted to write to all the members of our Regimental family to thank you for your efforts over the past year.

As a Regiment, we go from strength to strength and have been working collectively to embody and advance our Regimental ethos and vision. Hearing of the numerous achievements from across the Regimental family, and particularly of our Battalions, is both incredibly good for morale and reaffirms that our people remain the foundation of our Regimental success. Whether you are serving, a veteran, or part of the families that help support us, you all bear the hallmark of our Regiment and help carry the flame of our identity moving forward.

With our 20th anniversary fast approaching, we write a new chapter in our history, in which our operational service and our rich heritage serve as golden threads in our rich Regimental tapestry. The launch of our SCOTS Heritage Appeal at the Mansion House in November has set strong foundations for this anniversary year and I look forward to marking this auspicious landmark with you all.

Please enjoy a well-earned rest over this festive period. I hope you may all have the opportunity to recharge and reconnect with your friends and family, and can reflect and take pride in all you have achieved. Please do also keep in touch with each other and reach out to those members of the Regimental family who may need support over period.

Thank you once again for your service, sacrifice and support over this year and I wish you all a very Merry Christmas.

REMEMBRANCE DAY COMMEMORATIONS

Edinburgh

On Sunday 9 November 2025, The Royal Regiment of Scotland proudly took part in the Scottish National Act of Remembrance in Edinburgh for the very first time with an official marching contingent. The occasion saw 30 SCOTS soldiers and officers (both serving and veterans) form up on the iconic Castle Esplanade. They stepped off in unison to march down the historic Royal Mile to the City Chambers, where the Remembrance service was held.

Despite the cold and persistent rain, the Jocks displayed unwavering dignity and pride, embodying the values and traditions of the Regiment. For many, it was an emotional moment to stand shoulder to shoulder once again, representing their battalions and the Regiment as a whole.

Hldr Woodcock (B Coy) carried the 4 SCOTS Branch Assc standard

Dhekelia

4 SCOTS gathered at Dhekelia Station Church to mark Remembrance Sunday, honouring the sacrifices of those who have served and continue to serve in the Armed Forces. The service, led by Padre Wilde, offered a poignant moment of reflection on courage, dedication, and ultimate sacrifice.

A highlight of the ceremony was Hldr Woodcock of B Company carrying the 4 SCOTS Branch Association Standard, joined by members of the Royal British Legion. After the service, the Battalion's messes retired to their respective bars, where comradeship and reflection continued in a more informal setting.

London

On a warm and humid morning in London, the SCOTS Association, led by Lt Gen Sir NRM Borton KCB DSO MBE, assembled on Horse Guards Parade before marching past the Cenotaph. With a contingent of 21 marchers—our largest to date—the column moved with pride and precision. As the Cenotaph came into view, the Regimental Secretary, Lt Col (Retd) Jonathan Tink, laid a wreath on behalf of the Association. Crowds lined the streets, cheering and applauding—a poignant reminder of the nation's respect and gratitude. A memorable moment came as Gurkha soldiers greeted the contingent warmly, reflecting shared service and mutual respect.

Following the parade, the SCOTS Association hosted its annual Coach House Reception Lunch at

The Wellington Suite, Piccadilly. The event was well attended, offering veterans and friends the chance to reconnect and share stories in a relaxed setting.

Dundee

A Company 7 SCOTS marked Remembrance in a unique way this year with a special event at Dundee Ice Arena. Thanks to OCdt Jack Farquharson—an Army reservist, firefighter, and member of the Infantry Ice Hockey Team—troops from A Coy and 2 Signal Squadron attended a Dundee Stars Challenge Cup game on 8 November.

The evening included a moving minute's silence for the fallen, and 2Lt Walker was invited to drop the ceremonial first puck. The support shown by the crowd and teams was humbling, and a collection for Poppy Scotland raised an impressive amount, making it a memorable occasion that combined sport with solemn reflection.

HERITAGE APPEAL FUNDRAISING DINNER

By kind invitation of the Lord Mayor of the City of London, The Royal Regiment of Scotland hosted a fundraising dinner at the iconic Mansion House, London, on Tuesday 4 November.

The Mansion House Dinner marked the launch of the Heritage Appeal to:

- Respect those who serve today
- Remember those who have served
- Invest in the future of our soldiers

The evening was supported by 2 SCOTS Pipes and Drums, The Band of The Royal Regiment of Scotland and soldiers from different infantry specialisations.

Serving SCOTS officers, alongside the Colonel of the Regiment, hosted guests from the City of London to a unique Scottish-themed evening. The event featured a traditional Scottish menu, a Highland dancing performance, and both live and silent auctions. Proceeds will support the creation of a SCOTS statue, veteran welfare, and the redevelopment of the SCOTS museum.

During the evening, the Lord Mayor presented the Colonel of The Regiment with a hand-illustrated scroll in recognition of the City of London Associated Status granted to the Regiment in 2024. The Royal Regiment of Scotland is the first Scottish Infantry Regiment to receive such status, a reflection of both current and historic ties between the City of London Corporation and The SCOTS.

Thanks to the generosity of those in attendance a total of £40,917 was raised, a strong start toward the £250,000 target.

The evening concluded with a Regimental cocktail called Regimental Spirit and the Black Hackle nightcap.

SSgt Fleming puts Rangers through their paces

2 SCOTS TEAM UP WITH RANGERS FC

Glencorse Barracks welcomed the Rangers FC Academy for a day of teamwork, fitness, and resilience. Led by SSgt (SSI) J Fleming RAPTC and Cpl Erskine, soldiers and Academy players tackled team-building challenges and high-energy PT sessions. It wasn't just about physical effort—mental toughness was front and centre, with everyone pushing beyond their comfort zones.

A few weeks later, Rangers returned the favour by hosting our Regiment's Boxing Team. Under SSgt Fleming and Cpl Monaghan, the boxers faced elite-level fitness tests and learned what it takes to perform at the top. Tough, but hugely rewarding.

These events have strengthened the bond between 2 SCOTS and Rangers FC, showing how sport brings people together, shares skills, and drives us to keep improving. Here's to more collaborations ahead!

EXERCISE HARKHA STORM

From September to November, 60 members of C Company deployed to Kenya alongside the 1st Battalion Welsh Guards and soldiers from across 2 SCOTS. Their mission was to play the role of Task Force Hannibal – the “enemy” – and push the Guards to their limits during their validation exercise.

After an early start for the G4 team and range staff, the main body arrived in October and jumped straight into acclimatisation PT under LCpl Foot. Endless laps in the heat weren’t everyone’s favourite, but the effort paid off later. Once acclimatisation was complete, the team enjoyed adventure training in the Rift Valley – kayaking, rafting, BBQs, and sampling a few local beers.

Then came the real challenge: a 21-day field exercise in the stunning Lolldaiga Hills. Between torrential rain, blazing sun, and wildlife sightings (including giraffes, zebras, and even rhinos), C Company fought hard. Highlights included a 48-hour attack on a Welsh Guards position, multiple defensive stands, and a daring “thunder run” in open-top Land Rovers – living out those SAS fantasies until enemy ambushes brought them to a halt.

The final phase saw C Company holding the high ground around a watering hole in a tough defensive battle, with mortar fire and near-constant contact. After 19 days of intense fighting, the exercise concluded with a battlegroup defence, a mounted counterattack, and a mass C-Pers serial. The reward was a well-earned curry from the RLC field kitchen before heading home.

Kenya was tough but unforgettable – hard graft, incredible scenery, and plenty of stories to tell.

FREEDOM OF ARGYLL AND BUTE

Argyll and Bute has a proud history with The Royal Regiment of Scotland, tracing back to The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. In April 2025, that bond was honoured when the council granted the Regiment the Freedom of Argyll and Bute, recognising our service to the nation and local community.

In September, 2 SCOTS paraded through Lochgilphead, led by Maj Malky Morrison and supported by WO2 Chris Andrews. Over 100 officers and soldiers marched with the Pipes and Drums, Battalion Colours, and our famous mascot, Cpl Cruachan IV. After weeks of rehearsals, the parade looked sharp against the stunning coastal backdrop.

Locals turned out in force to cheer us on as we halted at the war memorial for the formal presentation. Maj Gen R Lindsay CBE spoke about our historic ties and why this moment matters for both the Regiment and the people of Argyll and Bute. Afterwards, the parade moved to the local school where they were hosted in true Highland style.

Being granted the Freedom of any shire is a huge honour – a sign of trust and respect for the hard work and dedication of our troops.

TWO NEW FACES IN RHQ

Sian Povey joined us in July as our SO2 Internal Communications and Engagement Officer. Coming from our external communications agency, Grayling, she brings a wealth of knowledge in the PR and social media field.

Since starting, Sian has been busy creating our newsletters, launching the Regiment's LinkedIn page, and planning some exciting projects for our 20th anniversary celebrations next year. Away from work, Sian is a competitive cheerleader and will be heading to Lisbon in 2026 to compete in the European Championships.

Our new Assistant Curator, Hilary Wight, joined the SCOTS Museum team in August and has hit the ground running, documenting and auditing the full museum collection. Previously, Hilary worked as Collections Officer at the Royal Engineers Museum in Kent, where she gained extensive experience managing and caring for military collections, leading acquisitions and documentation, and running an oral history project for the 75th anniversary of the Queen's Gurkha Engineers.

Hilary is excited to bring her expertise in museum conservation and the history of technology to improve documentation, care, and access for both physical and digital collections, ensuring the SCOTS Museum continues to preserve and share its heritage for future generations.

3 SCOTS IN LATVIA

Fresh from the success of Exercise BULL STORM and a well-earned break, the Battalion was soon preparing for another overseas deployment. This time, 3 SCOTS headed to Latvia for three weeks in September and October to take part in Exercise FOREST GUARDIAN, a key component of the wider Joint Expeditionary Force (JEF) Exercise TARASSIS.

Cpl Tod getting to grips with the ARX UGV

During the deployment, 3 SCOTS trained alongside the 4th Latvian Brigade and integrated with Canadian and Italian forces acting as OPFOR. The exercise focused on validating cutting-edge capabilities, including artificial intelligence (AI) tools and uncrewed systems such as drones and Uncrewed Ground Vehicles (UGVs)—central to the British Army's rapid modernisation and NATO's Northern Flank strategy.

Lt Rowsell and Latvian counterpart

Viking UGV

Hands-on experience with this new kit was essential. Soldiers transitioned from traditional ground combat to a more dynamic model, fighting from and within the near surface. They gained practical exposure to UGVs (Viking and ARX) for ammunition resupply and CASEVAC, Ghost drones for enhanced situational awareness, and the ATAK information system. Meanwhile, BG Main explored planning tools like Cobalt, and MENACE-T—designed to boost connectivity, streamline decision-making, and deliver critical information to troops on the ground.

The Exercise wrapped up with a Distinguished Visitors Day, showcasing these capabilities in Latvia, followed by a smaller presentation in London, a fitting conclusion to a forward-thinking and highly progressive deployment.

OP KIPION

In October, a platoon from B Company, 4 SCOTS, deployed to Bahrain as part of Op KIPION, the UK's long-standing commitment to promoting peace and stability in the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean. The platoon has primarily deployed in a Force Protection role, based out of UK Naval Support Facility alongside the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force, working closely with the US, Bahrain Armed Forces and a multitude of other global allies. Despite being deployed in the Force Protection role, B Company have used the facilities available and proximity to our US allies to conduct valuable training, engaging with partner nations to enhance our traditional soldiering. These include working closely with the US Coast Guard to refine the platoon's low level urban warfare skills, conducting battlefield casualty drills with Royal Navy medics, and all things theory from navigation to tactics, learning from one another and strengthening interoperability. Aside from working hard the platoon have made the most of being based in Bahrain, with some going sailing and tasting the local cuisine whilst others have opted for the less traditional Nando's or Cheesecake Factory.

CELEBRATING EXCELLENCE: CPL MAIN HONoured AT THE MASON LIVERY DINNER 2025

On Tuesday 28 October, Cpl Main of 3 SCOTS represented The Royal Regiment of Scotland with distinction at the Worshipful Company of Masons' prestigious Livery Dinner, held at the historic Mercers' Hall in London. The evening brought together members of the Associated Companies for an occasion steeped in tradition, camaraderie, and recognition of outstanding service.

The dinner was a formal affair, with guests in black tie and serving personnel in Mess Dress, creating an atmosphere befitting the significance of the event. During the evening, the Master of the Worshipful Company of Masons presented Cpl Main with the Masons' Company Prize for Outstanding Contribution to The Royal Regiment of Scotland for 2024-25. This award reflects Cpl Main's exceptional dedication, professionalism, and impact within the Regiment over the past year.

Cpl Main expressed his gratitude for the honour and spoke warmly about the opportunity to engage with members of the Company and fellow representatives from the Associated Companies.

4 SCOTS LAY TO REST EIGHT SCOTTISH SOLDIERS KILLED IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR

4 SCOTS travelled from Cyprus to France to act as the bearer party for the burial of eight Scottish servicemen who lost their lives during the First World War. The service was held at Loos British Cemetery, where these soldiers' remains—uncovered more than a century after the conflict—were laid to rest with dignity in the very landscape where they fought. The cemetery is the final resting place for nearly 3,000 casualties from 1914–18.

Among the eight, two soldiers were successfully identified through modern investigative techniques, allowing their families to reconnect with their ancestors. Relatives of Lt James Grant

Allan of the Gordon Highlanders and LCpl Gordon McPherson of the Cameron Highlanders travelled from the UK to attend, sharing family stories passed down through generations to keep their memory alive.

The service was conducted with full military honours, reflecting the respect owed to those who served and died. The bearer party, led by Sgt Carl Bearman, carried the coffins of the named soldiers to their burial site, where prayers were offered and the traditional sounds of the Last Post and Reveille echoed across the cemetery grounds.

After the service, relatives spoke with the jocks about their pride in their ancestors' service during the First World War—a poignant reminder that our forebears hold a permanent place in history and will never be forgotten.

5 SCOTS ROYAL GUARD

Balaklava Company plays a vital role each year on the Royal Guard at Balmoral—a long-standing tradition that highlights their ceremonial duties and importance in the Royal Family's calendar.

This year's deployment was both versatile and rewarding, packed with engagements and activities that kept the Company busy. Their time in the Scottish Highlands combined ceremonial duties with community involvement, sporting events, and social occasions.

The ceremonial aspect began with His Majesty The King's arrival parade, officially marking the start of his residence at Balmoral. It was a proud moment for the Company, offering the chance to be inspected by The King and witness his arrival—a memory to treasure.

Beyond formal duties, the Jocks swapped their usual PT for competition at the Aboyne, Ballater, and Braemar Highland Games, enjoying some healthy rivalry while engaging with the local community.

Social events also featured prominently, including balls and dinner nights such as the famous Gillies Ball. A standout moment came when Lt Thomas and Sgt Sheerin met American chat show host Jimmy Fallon en route to Balmoral. A brief chat turned into an invitation to dinner, where the Company hosted Mr Fallon for a traditional Scottish evening—complete with Scotch eggs, haggis, and even a splash of Buckfast. The night was a resounding success!

2 SCOTS ASSAYE AND FAMILIES' DAY

2 SCOTS marked the 222nd anniversary of the Battle of Assaye with a parade at Glencorse Barracks, followed by a fantastic family day. After days of rehearsals led by the RSM, soldiers looked sharp in their kilts as families, friends, and association members gathered to watch and celebrate together. With recent deployments behind them, it was the perfect chance to reconnect and honour this historic battle.

The sun shone throughout, and there was plenty to enjoy—food stalls, pony rides, arts and crafts, and the ever-popular weapons stand. Fitness challenges between Companies ended in an epic tug-of-war, with the combined Mess team taking the win! Cultural displays wowed the crowd, with the Fijian choir and Nepalese soldiers stealing the show. It was a day that perfectly blended tradition, competition, and community spirit.

6 SCOTS ADE

At the end of September, the Battalion deployed on its Annual Deployment Exercise (ADE) at the Okehampton Training Area on Dartmoor. The exercise was a full Battalion effort, with every company involved—either on the ground or providing real-life support. We were joined by members from 4 LANCES and 7 SCOTS, adding to the scale and teamwork of the event.

The first week focused on a blank-firing Exercise, starting with two days of build-up in and around camp before deploying into the field. After a tough start, troops enjoyed two days off to explore the local area and take in more of Devon.

Week two featured a live-firing package, giving soldiers the chance to fire rifle, pistol, and GPMG. The Exercise was set to finish with a march and shoot, but Dartmoor had other plans—the famous fog and bad weather rolled in, turning it into a march and march instead. Despite the conditions, morale stayed high, and the Battalion wrapped up a challenging but rewarding ADE

OP HIGHMAST

In autumn 2025, 4 SCOTS deployed 19 personnel to Duqm Port in southern Oman to support Operation HIGHMAST, part of the Carrier Strike Group (CSG) 2025 deployment to the Far East. Their role focused on providing force protection for the UK's Joint Support Facility (JSF) during fleet replenishment as the CSG prepared for its final leg back to the UK. The Guard Force flew from Cyprus to Oman to secure JSF shore-side operations, ensuring resupply ran smoothly.

On arrival, the team moved into accommodation and, after their Reception, Staging, Onward Movement and Integration (RSOI) brief, settled into routine duties. They operated in five three-person guard teams, covering shifts at the JSF and the Explosives Storage Area (ESA), where ammunition for HMS Prince of Wales' escorts was stored. During downtime, personnel explored Duqm town, trained in the Renaissance Village gym, and relaxed on the local beach.

Operation HIGHMAST was a chance to contribute to a strategically significant mission and work alongside the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force, a rewarding experience for all involved. Deployment highlights included evening barbecues with JSF Headquarters and a guided tour of HMS Prince of Wales, making the trip both professionally and personally fulfilling.

ARMY CADET FORCES

Lothian and Borders Battalion has had an action-packed 2025, supporting the Scottish Poppy Appeal, local Remembrance parades, and veteran initiatives while taking part in adventurous training and community events. The Battalion achieved national success with its Military Skills Team winning Gold Standard and the Army Cadet Force Trophy, and shooting teams competing at the Cadet Inter-Service Skill at Arms Meeting and the Cadet National Championships at Bisley. Cadets progressed through star levels, completed Duke of Edinburgh's Awards, and gained SQA certificates in teamwork, citizenship, and leadership. Key training highlights included the Three Star and Junior Cadet Instructor Cadre (JCIC) and four senior cadets successfully completing the Senior Cadet Instructor Course (SCIC).

Nine cadets from Glasgow & Lanarkshire Battalion embarked on a trip to Dorset to take part in the Ex Cadet STEM Challenge to join 300 other cadets from around the UK for a week of hands-on science, technology, engineering and maths based activities. The event this year was hosted by the Royal Armoured Corps with the aim to spark enthusiasm for STEM subjects and showcase how classroom learning, which they conduct at school, translates into real-world applications across the modern Army.

Angus and Dundee Battalion celebrated outstanding achievements in 2025, including the promotion of Company Sergeant Major Aimee Martin (17) to Cadet Regimental Sergeant Major. Aimee, from St Mary's Detachment, progressed to 4 Star level, completed SCIC and RCN courses, and achieved SQA Levels 4 and 5 in Teamwork and Citizenship, as well as a Level 6 PDA in Planning and Delivering Training. She was also appointed Lord Lieutenant's Cadet of Dundee earlier this year.
