

Brought to you by:

Friends and colleagues,

I am excited to invite you for the Tulsa Study Club 2026-27 season!

Our curriculum offers a well-rounded blend of multidisciplinary topics and lecturers from across the world. To begin our year in September, orthodontist Dr. Farah Kar will help unlock ideas for predictable clear aligner treatment. In October, we will host a dental materials guru in Dr. Taiseer Sulaiman, who will guide us in material selection to optimize direct and indirect restoration outcomes. The fall semester will conclude in November with a presentation on the value of digital dentistry to your practice by dentist Dr. Joshua Austin.

Our spring semester will resume in January with Jermaine Galloway, longtime law enforcement officer and professional public speaker, who will share current street-level risks associated with opioids and other drugs with relevance to the dental profession. His session will be followed in February by a treatment planning presentation by our own Tulsa Study Club members. In March, endodontist Dr. Stephanie Tran will provide insight to aesthetically driven endodontic treatment. We will finish out the year in April with dentist and dental technician, Dr. Justin Chi, who will lead a presentation and hands-on learning experience on digital dental design and dental milling technology.

For more details on our speakers for this season, please see the attached brochure.

At Dental Surgical Arts of Tulsa, we have been honored to provide Seattle Study Club-based education for more than a quarter of a century. The Tulsa Study Club has been an invigorating resource for our practice and for the practices involved in the club. As we progress into an ever-evolving era of dentistry, we hope you will join Tulsa Study Club for our 28th year together!

Cheers,

Jordan M. Pierce
