

PRESENTER

Reid Sawyer

Reid is Managing Director at Marsh, where he leads the Emerging Risks Group and serve as the US Cyber Consulting Leader. With 30 years of experience, he advises senior corporate and government leaders on strategic risks—particularly in cybersecurity and geopolitics. A former U.S. Army Special Operations officer, he founded the Army’s top counterterrorism strategy group and served as a senior faculty member at West Point. Recognized nationally as a leading voice on emerging threats, he brings unmatched insight to complex global challenges. His work is grounded in a passion for bridging strategy and risk to help leaders make informed, resilient decisions.
