

PRESENTER

Steve Son

Steve Son is Senior Vice President and Head of FedCash® Business Strategy and Support. In this capacity, he oversees strategy development for the FedCash® business line, informs policy development and administration, and guides the operations of 28 Reserve Bank cash centers across the country. Mr. Son also oversees currency and coin inventory management and distribution, including business continuity planning across the 200+ distribution locations (Federal Reserve operations centers, cash depots, coin terminals and depots) that service both domestic and international markets. Additionally, his responsibilities include administrative functions for FedCash® Services including a performance management function that continuously monitors the health of the Fed's Cash business and provides support for FedCash® high priority initiatives and programs.

Mr. Son works closely with Reserve Bank Senior Cash leaders, the Board of Governors and Federal Reserve Financial Services leaders. He also engages with external stakeholders within the U.S. cash supply chain, including financial institution customers, key supply chain participants, government agency partners, and other Central Banks.

Mr. Son holds a Bachelor of Arts in Social Sciences with an emphasis in Economics and a minor in Business Administration from the University of California, Irvine.
