

ADVISORY INTERNSHIP (Full-time Junior Advisor) – Autumn 2026

Are you eager to explore the world of tomorrow and help solve strategic challenges within organisations and society? Are you looking for an internship that combines the explorative world of futures studies and foresight with strategic advisory practices, while working with global companies and actors? An internship with the Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies (CIFS) provides you with a unique opportunity to do just that.

The Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies is looking for full-time Junior Advisor (Advisory interns) from August 24th, 2026, to December 2026. The internship is ON-SITE in Copenhagen. The deadline for applications is April 15th, 2026. Note: Applicants must have the legal right to live and work in Denmark / EU.

The Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies is an independent, non-profit think tank established in 1969, on the initiative of former Danish Minister and OECD Secretary-General Professor Thorkil Kristensen. Our purpose is to help people and organisations imagine, work with, and shape their future.

We do this by applying our unique approach to futures studies and foresight, combined with more than 50 years of global experience and contributions to the field, working with organisations across the public, private, academic, and civic sectors, as well as with the general public. Being independent of commercial and political interests enables an objective approach and allows for all profits to go exclusively to fund further research and non-profit initiatives.

MAIN ASSIGNMENTS

Among your main assignments will be to:

- Conduct research and analyses
- Produce insights, results, and recommendations for clients
- Develop presentation material for workshops and presentations
- Assist in facilitation of workshops with clients
- Support the Advisory team with a wide variety of ad-hoc tasks

WHAT WE OFFER

As our new Junior Associate, you will mainly be working with our Advisory team as part of a diverse, multi-disciplinary, and international team, with an interesting and varied project portfolio. With our FARSIGHT Publications, you will have the opportunity to be published with articles on future-related topics of your interest. At CIFS, the more responsibility you take on, the more responsibility you'll be given. We offer you the chance to explore the world of tomorrow together with us and our clients, as well as get insight into our methodologies. CIFS offers a monthly stipend to all our interns. It is possible to earn ECTS-credits as part of the internship.

WHAT YOU OFFER

We expect you to be a recently graduated bachelor or current master level student with a relevant academic background. However, if you are the right candidate, we will also consider final year bachelor students. We value diverse backgrounds and personalities, but you must possess:

- A high level of personal drive and ambition
- A creative, analytical, and versatile mind-set
- The ability to manage and solve complex issues and a desire to strive to exceed client expectations
- A positive attitude and a good sense of humour to fit into our workplace culture
- Fluency in either Danish or English, verbally as well as in writing

HOW TO APPLY

To apply, please send your resume and a cover letter explaining why you are the right candidate for the position and other relevant documents to internship@cifs.dk with "Advisory Internship" in the subject line.
