MSCI AC World Net Index in $A is an abbreviation of MSCI All Country World Investable Market Index (Net) in Australian dollars. It is the previous benchmark, still shown for comparison purposes. *8 February 2013

The unit price of the Forager International Shares Fund rose 2.1% in April, behind the MSCI World SMID Index which rose 3.2%.

Markets spent recent months pondering the impact of the Iran conflict and oil prices. Results arriving in recent weeks have been more robust than expected. Earnings announcements acknowledge the geopolitical backdrop—energy costs, softer consumer sentiment and logistics disruption—but many companies see limited direct impact.

First-quarter profit growth for S&P 500 companies is estimated at nearly 28%. US mega-cap technology shares have rallied sharply since the supposed ceasefire. The NASDAQ 100 rose 15.6% over April alone.

Broad market indices have surged, led by mega caps. But uncertainty continues to weigh on many individual securities, especially smaller companies, often despite solid earnings. Durable businesses weather geopolitical shocks over time, creating opportunity for patient investors.

In the Fund, MTU Aero Engines (XTRA:MTX) beat estimates with military revenues surging 25%. Its Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul division grew 20% and the company confirmed full-year guidance. ING Groep (ENXTAM:INGA) delivered net income 7% above the prior year, announcing a fresh €1 billion buyback. Inchcape (LSE:INCH) grew organic revenues 6% and reiterated double-digit EPS growth expectations, while paying out a dividend plus buyback yield of about 10%. Tetra Tech (NASDAQ:TTEK) raised full-year guidance, reporting the highest first-half cash generation in its history.

With headline indices propelled by a narrow group of large companies, we continue to find investment opportunities among smaller businesses where strong fundamentals aren't always reflected in the share price.

About Forager

With over 2,000 long-term investors and a focus on investing for the long-run, Forager Funds is a unique Australian asset management company. The company is majority owned by staff. Forager's shareholders support the desire to place performance before revenue. That means capping the size of funds before too much money becomes an impediment to performance. Key investment staff are strongly aligned with investors through co-investment and / or equity in the Forager business.
