

MARKETING DISCLOSURE

Investment advisory services are offered through Tandem Financial, a registered investment adviser. Registration with any regulatory body does not imply any particular level of skill or training. This material is provided for informational purposes only and should not be construed as investment, tax, or legal advice. All investing involves risk, including the potential loss of principal. There is no guarantee that any investment strategy will achieve its objectives. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Certain statements herein may reflect the firm's current views, expectations, or beliefs, which are subject to change without notice. For additional information about our services, fees, and disclosures, please refer to our Form ADV Part 2A, available at <https://www.tandem-financial.com/disclosures> or upon request at no cost.