Product Review: Kid-O-Bunk

We had the chance to try out Kid-O-Bunk from Disc-O-Bed and the kids and I loved it. We have already taken them camping. This week they are coming handy when our out of town guests arrive for the weekend, <http://bit.ly/1M27g3b>

"This dual purpose bunk bed is great for staying with Grandma and Pa, camping, a hotel, or even just popping it open in the living room. It uses patented lock-in discs that snap and lock into place, so no tools are needed to set them up."

LITTLE FAMILY ADVENTURE

"I was recently sent a Kid-O-Bunk to try out on our latest camping trip. My kids loved its uniqueness and I loved the space it freed up in the tent. We could actually move around without stepping on anyone. I really loved this product and I think you will too!"

"If you've ever run out of sleeping space on a camping trip, at grandma's house or even a kids' sleepover at your own house, you really need to check out Kid-O-Bunk portable bunkbeds. Setup takes just minutes, no tools mattresses, or ladders required...they come with plenty of pockets that are ideal for holding books, glasses, pens, and - if you're allowing it - electronic devices. The material is machine washable, which is always nice. And they come in a zippered bag, which makes storage and schlepping really easy."

"Let your children explore this summer – wherever it may take them. Spend the night under the stars, plan a sleepover, or go camping together. Wherever the adventures take your family, Kid-O-Bunk is a perfect solution for bedtime away from home!"

"This is a durable mobile sleep solution tested to hold up against the destruction standards set by seven to twelve year olds. The Kid-O-Bunk uses the company's patented lock in disc system in a no-tool assembly kit that can be configured as a bunk, sitting bench or two single cots, and does not require a mattress."

"If you are headed to a hotel, cabin, campground or even a relatives house where you will need more sleep than you have to – check out Kid-O-Bunk."

"Traveling with kids can be exhausting and sometimes a logistical nightmare, especially when you're in need of extra sleeping arrangements. With 4 boys it's always hard to find sleeping arrangements for everyone...they usually end up on a pile of blankets in the floor, which isn't always fun for the older one. This holiday season, pack Kid-O-Bunk – a new travel sleep solution for kids."

"I love that you can easily put this product away in a closet and bring it out when you need it. For guests, sleepovers, these would be a huge hit. I also love that the parent company original use was for the U.S. Military and served Doctors without Borders. Way to go!!"

"My kids have slept in the bunk beds every night since I set them up. They beg me every day to let them sleep "one more night" in their new beds. They are obviously quite comfortable. I myself decided to try out the top bunk to see how it felt.

Thrifty Nifty Mommy

I was surprised at just how comfortable it felt. There is no support bar under the bed like other cots on the market, so it just feels like you are sleeping on a hammock that doesn't swing."

"My kids seem to have sleepovers every week. The tornado of linen and pillows and stuffed animals that they take to bed seems to explode out of the room. In fact, I find the cleanup of the sleepovers far worse than having the kids making noises throughout the night. So when I saw this amazing solution, I just about jumped for joy."

"Overall we are really impressed with the Kid-O-Bunk. Assembly took seconds and it's sturdy enough to hold our 6 year old and 11 year old. It will be great to take camping as well as when we travel and grandma has already requested one for her holiday wish list when she's having grandkid sleepovers at her house. The Kid-O-Bunk is a definite must have for any family on the go and would also be great to have if you're expecting extra little guests this holiday season."

RATING

DISC-O-BED YOUTH KID-O-BUNK

I tested the Disc-O-Bed Youth Kid-O-Bunk with organizers. The color of the bed is blue. What you're sleeping on is soft, thin canvas. The bunk bed is easy to put together and take apart. The length of the bunk bed is 5 feet. If you are taller than 5 feet, it may not work for you.

The height is 2 feet, 8 inches, the width is 2 feet, 4 inches.

What is best to me is it takes only five minutes to put together and take apart. I also like that the canvas is very soft. Another thing that is a big help for me is the side pocket with cup holders because it organizes my stuff, and I like a drink at night. It can also be more than just a bunk bed. It can be a bench or be taken apart into two single cots.

— CHRISTOPHER BATTAGLIA
Kidsday Reporter

"The Kid-O-Bunk is the answer to pretty much every sleep-over issue you'll ever have. One of these units can be two single cots, one bunk bed cot, or a bench. And because it's so quick and easy to set up, you can change configurations to suit your needs at the drop of a hat. These bunks even have handy-dandy pouches that hang from the side, so the kiddos can store their snacks or toys."

Kay Poole If the price is too pricey, you get what you pay for. I'm an overweight woman, I have slept on one a few times. They are for adults also. The disco bed, is the most comfortable bed I've slept on. No rods in your back. It really sleeps great.

Megan Ray Fechter That's really cute but if I was going to spend that much, I'd buy the Cabela's ones that adults can sleep on too.

DISC-O-BED KID-O-BUNK

When you're camping with kids, floor space in your tent or cabin is at a premium. Sleeping bags litter the floor, and you may think to yourself, "There's got to be a better way to contain this chaos." Enter the Kid-O-Bunk from Disc-O-Bed, a cool-looking, compact system that will allow you to fit more people in your tent or camper without sacrificing floor space. A family-owned business since 1988, Disc-O-Bed is passionate about changing traditional cot systems. They supply beds to Emergency Relief and Military Troop Deployment worldwide, and if they're good enough for the military, they're probably going to handle your home and camping needs without a problem.

The Kid-O Bunk works great indoors and outdoors, and supports up to 200 pounds. The patented design does not require any tools to assemble or tear down, and everything packs up into a convenient carrying bag. The top bunk can even be repositioned to form a bench, or removed to make two single cots. With the Kid-O-Bunk from Disc-O-Bed, sleeping comfortably has never been so compact or sturdy.

SLEEP

KID-O-BUNK BY DISC-O-BED

LAST SUMMER, WE FELL IN LOVE WITH THE DISC-O-BED — A FULL SIZE, BUNK COT SYSTEM THAT'S BECOME A STAPLE OF OUR CAR CAMPING ADVENTURES. THIS PAST SUMMER, WHEN WE WERE INTRODUCED TO ITS SMALLER COUNTERPART THE KID-O-BED, WE KNEW THAT THEY HAD A WINNER.

We love coming across a piece of camping gear that's just as functional at home as it is in the tent. The Kid-O-Bunk transports easily in a full-rip carrying case that stacks perfectly in the trunk. Equally, when not being hauled to the campsite, the case slides perfectly under beds and creates a perfect pop-up sleeper solution at home. We love the fact that these beds go together without tools, and can easily be assembled by the kids that they're designed for.

Each of the two included beds has a weight limit of 200 pounds, making them perfect for just about any child ages 7-12. They're available in two fun colors, with an anti-rust steel frame at the core. While many cots rely on a center beam for stability, the Kid-O-Beds sling the easy-to-wash, high-grade polyester deck between two side bars. This creates a contoured sling that makes for a great night of sleep.

Enhanced by the fact that they don't need to be set up in pairs, the Kid-O-Bunk can easily serve as a single cot if that's all that's needed for the night out. Along the side of the cots run two matching organizers, providing an ideal space to store flashlights, water bottles — or in our experience — walkie-talkies.

Every time we use the Kid-O-Bunks we fall in love with them even more; they're built rock solid, and we don't think it's a stretch to imagine them becoming an heirloom piece in our camping collection.

"When the Kid-O-Bunk came it she couldn't wait help put it together. I was impressed with how easy it was to do so. There are no tools necessary everything fits and locks together easily. Doesn't this look a lot more comfortable than a sleeping bag?"

6. Kid-O-Bunk - Your kid sleeps fine in his own bed at home. But when traveling, camping, or hosting sleepovers, suddenly, that single bed isn't doing the job. The cool Kid-O-Bunk sets up in seconds, and can be used as a stacked bunk bed, two side-by-side singles, or even a camping couch. In between uses it hangs out in its own zip-up storage sack, easy to slide under a bed or couch or into a closet (Kidobunk, $289.99).

13 inventions that solve problems every single parent has

Kid-o-Bunk- I sorted through like a bazillion press releases in preparation for this expo and when I saw this product I made a point to visit their booth. It's a portable bunk bed with 3 positions; bunk bed, couch and side by side cots. It was invented by the owners of Disc-o-Bed who make a similar adult bed for military, refugees and campers. You don't need any tools or mattresses and it comes with everything you need to transport to wherever you are going. Perfect for indoors and out. I will be surprised if these don't end up in my parents' house at some point.

"We really love the Kid-O-Bunk! I know we will get a lot of use out of this bed over the years. I can't say enough great things about it! It's portable, easy to assemble, and comfortable."
