

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - January 21, 2026

San Salvador, El Salvador

Welcome to the future of real estate.

LIQUIDMANZANA is a digital asset company that offers fractional participation in real estate related investments and, with respect to certain development projects, potential ownership in either the income stream from such projects or ownership in the underlying assets through harnessing the power of Digital Asset Tokens (DATs). Accordingly, LIQUIDMANZANA leverages the blockchain to tokenize real estate development projects as well as the income streams from real estate projects. This modernized industry helps facilitate real-time buying, selling, and trading on a global scale. As a forward-thinking company, LIQUIDMANZANA has embraced the diverse wealth opportunity embedded in the blockchain, and the immense opportunity and advantages it provides for wealth and prosperity for those who participate in this industry.

The process is as cutting-edge as the technology - from land acquisition to the LIQUIDMANZANA Vault, to the marketplace and ultimately to liquidity – LIQUIDMANZANA has integrated real estate investment with cryptocurrency's revolutionary position as the world's best investment tool.

"The tokenization of real world assets is more than just a tech buzz word. The technological leap forward provided by decentralization will see efficiency gains for markets akin to the evolution from horse and carriage to the modern race car."

Pedro J. Solis, Co-founder, LIQUIDMANZANA

Tokenized land ownership has the ability to provide real-time access to both real estate development and related project finance transactions and provides unprecedented value growth, powered by the blockchain. This is just the beginning of the paradigm shift where digital currency's flexibility can be utilized to help even small investors develop an impressive real estate portfolio.

"The tokenization of real estate introduces unprecedented liquidity, transparency, and accessibility to the largest asset class in the world" - Cointelegraph

New distribution channels are emerging from tokenized investment products, facilitating a more robust competitive landscape, which translates into more innovation, improved consumer service, and improved pricing strategies. Blockchain technology has also created a customization advantage, where the playing field is leveled through fractional investment, where even a single asset can be divided into numerous tokens that represent a stake in either the income stream of the project and in some limited cases, ownership of the project assets themselves.. The inclusivity of fractionalization helps foster results in an investment landscape ripe with opportunity for everyone, including those with limited capital.

The current real estate market presents a $380 trillion opportunity, the largest asset class in the world that up to this point has remained predominantly illiquid. Currently real estate is plagued by slow and outdated market systems, resulting in low liquidity and high barriers to entry. Extensive paperwork and regulations are inefficient and limit individual global investment opportunities.

An innovative solution has now come forward to solve this problem.

After successful initiatives over the past year, including collaboration at the US Strategy For AI & Crypto Summit in Washington D.C. in July 2025, and presence and support during the 8th anniversary of Cripto Latin Fest in Medellin , Colombia in August 2025, LIQUIDMANZANA is gearing up for their official TGE \(The Genesis Event\) to take place on January 30, 2026, in San Salvador, El Salvador at Simmer Down with a press conference to take place prior on January 28. These events are in conjunction with the much-anticipated next edition of Plan B Forum, the premier bitcoin conference occurring January 30 - 31, 2026 in El Salvador .
