Executive Coach
Attorney

Ben Lear is a speaker, attorney and storyteller who helps professionals, organizations and professionals find their story, build their story and drive forward. Ben's strength is his deep understanding of everyday high-pressure work. Through his career in law and renewable energy, he has navigated challenges and deadlines, all while making his own career change to an award-winning speaker

Ben's speaking centers on a simple idea: When people find their story they find their purpose—their reason to get up in the morning. Drawing from sports, books, history and pop culture and from his own life and career, he shows audiences how to turn stories into goal, how to get their careers unstuck and how to be a better speaker

Ben speaks like someone you know and leaves participants with new ideas, concrete steps and simple solutions they can use to drive a company, team or career forward

In his free time, Ben can be found venturing outdoors, reading, watching sports, movies and longing for the U.S. to win the World Cup.
