KEEP IT GREEN AND CLEAN: TIPS FOR YOUR ORGANICS CART

- ✓ Skip the green compostable plastic bags—even if they say "compostable." They don't break down properly in our local composting facilities.
- ✓ Go natural! Compost facilities prefer loose food scraps or those wrapped in paper bags or newspaper.
- ✓ Avoid contamination: When in doubt, leave it out! Keeping non-compostables out of the organics cart protects the whole load.
- ✓ Cleaner compost means healthier soil —By keeping green compostable bags out of the organics cart, you're not just preventing contamination—you're reducing waste, and nourishing local farms and gardens.

Make the most of your kitchen pail!

By placing food scraps, food-soiled papers, and plant materials in your kitchen pail, you're contributing to the creation of rich compost. Let's work together to prevent these valuable resources from ending up in the landfill!

Green Steps: Scrap, Line, Empty, Rinse!

- ☑ Collect food scraps and food-soiled paper in your kitchen pail.
- ☑ Line your pail with newspapers, paper bags, or paper towels to help it stay clean.
- ☑ Empty your kitchen pail into your Organics cart.

Keep Your Kitchen Pail Fresh with These Easy Tips

- Give your scraps some space – avoid overfilling your kitchen pail to allow airflow and reduce moisture buildup.
- Empty regularly for freshness – clearing out your pail every few days helps keep odors at bay.
- Rinse and refresh – after emptying, give your pail a quick wash with soap and water, then let it air dry. A sprinkle of baking soda at the bottom works wonders for absorbing odors!
- Freeze the funky stuff – store items like meat, bones, and dairy in the freezer until collection day, then add them to your pail just before taking it out.
