

Clarity, Confidence, and Compliance—All in One System

Supporting Students While Staying Ahead of Change

Recent Supreme Court rulings have changed how schools must approach accommodations under Section 504 and the ADA. These shifts are reshaping expectations for how districts document, implement, and verify student supports.

For educators, that means one thing: clarity matters more than ever.

Peace of Mind for Educators, Equity for Students

TestHound allows you to:

- Unify accommodation data across Special Education, 504, and EL programs—so no student slips through the cracks
- Automate room assignments and test sessions to ensure every student receives the right environment and supports
- Generate clear, auditable reports that prove accommodations were implemented as written
- Track materials and sessions automatically, reducing stress and irregularities

“Because TestHound integrates with our Special Education and English Language Learner programs, we can make sure every student gets the test accommodations they require.”
