

Contractual Framework

Version as of February 10, 2026

URBI Gulf FZ-LLC provides access to its technologies, platforms, geospatial data, APIs, and services exclusively on the basis of individually negotiated written agreements concluded with clients, partners, contractors, and other authorized users, taking into account the nature of the services provided, the level of data access, integrations, and the scope of projects performed.

URBI does not rely on publicly available standard-form agreements for the provision of its services or for granting rights to use its technologies and data.

All rights, scope of access, conditions of use, limitations, and responsibilities of the parties in relation to URBI platforms, software, cartographic and geospatial data, APIs, analytical modules, and services are determined solely by the relevant written agreements concluded between URBI and the user.

Such agreements may include, without limitation:

- license agreements;
- service agreements;
- framework agreements;
- technical assignments and Statements of Work (SOW);
- data, API, or platform access agreements;
- integration agreements;
- non-disclosure agreements (NDA);
- other project-specific contractual documents.

Informational sections of the URBI website intended for general presentation of the company's products and capabilities do not define or determine the scope of rights or conditions for the use of URBI technologies, data, or services.

This provision does not apply to website pages that are expressly designated as technical documentation, descriptions of services, data, APIs, cartographic solutions, or other sections forming part of URBI's service and product documentation.

Where a written agreement exists between URBI and a user, the terms of such agreement shall prevail over any general information published on the website.

Use of URBI platforms, data, APIs, and services is permitted strictly within the scope and under the conditions expressly set out in the relevant written agreement.
