

SUPER-NOVAE RESPONSE

Youth Empowerment in LIBYA

Libya remains in a state of political flux, grappling with a fragile peace and ongoing conflict since the fall of Muammar Gaddafi in 2011. Politically, the country is divided between two rival administrations: the internationally recognized Government of National Unity in Tripoli et the State of Libya Government in the East. This division has undermined national cohesion and hindered effective governance. Security is precarious, with armed groups controlling different territories and sporadic clashes continuing to disrupt daily life.

Socio-economically, Libya faces significant challenges. Despite its vast oil wealth, the economy is struggling due to corruption, infrastructure damage, and fluctuating oil production. Unemployment and inflation are high, exacerbating public discontent. The humanitarian situation is dire, with many Libyans and migrants suffering from inadequate access to basic services, including healthcare, clean water, and education.

In October 2024, the Libyan East was hit by a hurricane causing significant damages and letting the population in emergency situation as local authorities were unable to support reconstruction and assistance.
