MATCH PREVIEW

Much like the well-known country duo Florida Georgia Line, Racing Louisville FC has returned — though thankfully, the wait wasn't nearly as long.

Back at it for the first time in nearly 40 days, Racing Louisville FC pays a visit to Providence Park for a 7 p.m. Sunday encounter with one of the NWSL's top-five sides: Portland Thorns FC. It'll be Racing's first match back after the league's summer break.

The last time Louisville (2-8-1, 7 points) saw the pitch was May 29 at Lynn Family Stadium when a single moment from Ally Brazier lifted Denver Summit FC to a 1-0 win over Racing. It was yet another gutting one-goal defeat — the club's eighth of the campaign.

Louisville now returns from the league break with a chance to turn the page after a difficult opening 11 game stretch. It'll begin that quest to shift momentum against a side it overwhelmed back on May 8 at Lynn Family Stadium.

The fixture saw Racing down the then league-leading Thorns by a 3-1 scoreline for its second win of the season. A Katie O'Kane brace, coupled with an exclamation late on from Emma Sears, fueled the hosts to their most convincing triumph over the three-time league champions in club history.

One of the eight original NWSL franchises, Portland (7-3-3, 24 points), has won just one out of its last four matches since that Racing defeat. Just before the hiatus, the Thorns salvaged a point at home against the in-form Utah Royals FC with a Sophia Wilson equalizer from the spot in second-half stoppage time.

It was one more subtle reminder of Portland's ability, both this season and historically, to consistently find ways to get results over the line at Providence Park — Sunday's venue.

Robert Vilahamn's team is one of only two sides without a loss on home soil in 2026, alongside the Kansas City Current. Its 34 home wins since the start of the 2022 season are also second-most to Kansas City with 37.

The last time a club overcame the Thorns in the Oregon fortress was last August against Utah Royals FC. For context, Louisville's last two trips to Portland have, in fact, ended in multi-goal draws: 2-2 and most recently 3-3.

Story lines...

International update: Racing forward Emma Sears appeared in each of the two U.S. Women's National Team friendlies in June against Brazil. Sears started and played all 90 minutes in a chaotic card-riddled final encounter that finished 1-0 in favor of the USWNT. The appearances in South America were Sears' 20th and 21st at the senior level. Through 10 games at the club level with Louisville, Sears has compiled two goals and three assists. At the youth level, 17-year-old Racing attacker Audrey McKeen represented the U.S. at the U-18 level across two games in Bulgaria. McKeen notably bagged two of the five goals in a 5-0 victory over the Ukraine U-19 WNT on June 9.

Second-year standout: Having made starts in 10 of her 11 total matches this year, midfielder Katie O'Kane has built on what was an encouraging 2025 rookie campaign. O'Kane, a 24-year-old product of the University of Utah, is Racing's leading chance creator in 2026 with 16. That's the same amount she amassed across all of last season. Goal contribution-wise, O'Kane has tallied two goals and two assists, with both finishes coming against Portland. Her influence is also felt in the press, as she is tied for the team lead in possessions won in the attacking third (7).

A true undeniable force: No Louisville player has seen more time on the pitch in 2026 than Taylor Flint. Her impact on Racing's success cannot simply be quantified by a singular number. Throughout this campaign, Flint has once again been in the middle of it all. Not only is she one of six Louisville players with at least two goals, but the midfielder leads the team in successful passes (295), duels won (88) and interceptions (39). The duels won and interception totals also lead the entire NWSL. She has also, importantly, netted four goals against the Thorns across all competitions — tied for the most against a single opponent in her career.

Doing it from distance: Racing has found production from range in 2026. Sunday's visitors lead the NWSL in goals scored from outside the box at five — equating to 33% of the club's total goal tally. Five such goals are also the same amount as Louisville recorded from 26 games last year. Goals, goals and more goals: Portland is the current league leader in goals scored, as it is the first side to 20 goals. The 20 finishes are on 163 total shots (including blocked attempts), fewer than the next four most efficient attacks. Interestingly, four of the 20 have been via the header — the most by a team in the NWSL.

Yup, she's back: Thorns forward Sophia Wilson returned to the pitch back in March after missing the entire 2025 campaign on maternity leave. The USWNT star hasn't missed a beat. So far, Wilson has converted five goals in 13 games played, including in back-to-back matches before the break. She is one of seven players with five or more goals this year. At the international level, Wilson played a role in both of the United States' goals in the June window against Brazil. The 25-year-old scored the opening goal of the first match, while also forcing an own goal to clinch the second friendly for the visitors.

ABOUT THE CLUB

Since starting play in 2021, Racing Louisville FC has blazed a trail as its city's only top-tier professional sports team.

Named as an ode to Louisville's Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby, Racing competes in the National Women's Soccer League, the world's premier women's professional soccer league. NWSL stars regularly take part in the FIFA World Cup and the Olympics, among other notable international competitions.

Racing Louisville plays in the largest soccer-specific stadium in the state — 15,304-capacity Lynn Family Stadium in Louisville's Butchertown neighborhood just east of downtown. The stadium also houses Racing's brother club, Louisville City FC of the USL Championship.

Both LouCity and Racing maintain daily operations from the Lynn Family Sports Vision & Training Center, located at Champions Park about two miles east of the stadium. The facility also houses the LouCity & Racing Academy and the LouCity & Racing Foundation, the organization's charitable arm.

John Neace heads a local ownership group as chairman of Soccer Holdings, LLC — the parent company of Louisville City FC and Racing Louisville FC. Former LouCity coach James O'Connor serves as the organization's president.

Racing has so far lifted two trophies, winning The Women's Cup's inaugural tournament in 2021 in a penalty kick shootout over German power Bayern Munich. Louisville traveled to Brazil to win The Women's Cup again in 2025, also prevailing on penalties against Palmeiras. Later in 2025, Racing qualified for the NWSL Playoffs for the first time.

The club's roster features multiple senior internationals, including U.S. Women's National Team members Savannah DeMelo, Taylor Flint and Emma Sears.

Bev Yanez HEAD COACH

Beverly "Bev" Goebel Yanez returns for a third season as the head coach of Racing Louisville FC in 2026. Racing Louisville appointed Yanez as the club's third permanent head coach in November 2023, and she led the club to its first appearance in the NWSL Playoffs in 2025 with a seventh-place finish.

The 2025 team set club records for: wins (10), points (37), goals scored (36) and road victories (5). It finished in seventh place, its highest-ever league standing, earning the first playoff berth in Racing's history. In making the postseason, Yanez became the first person to reach the NWSL Playoffs as both a player and a coach. She was also the first American female coach to make the postseason since 2013. Yanez was named NWSL Coach of the Year, becoming the first American and first former NWSL player to win the award.

In her first season at the helm in 2024, Yanez led Racing to its most wins in a single season (7), its highest-scoring regular season (33 goals) and its most-ever points in the standings (28), narrowly missing the playoffs.

Yanez has led the development a new generation of Racing stars, notably Emma Sears. The former Ohio State forward was the final selection of the second round of the 2024 NWSL draft but but has emerged as a national star, earning regular call ups to the U.S. Women's National Team.

Following Yanez's 10-year professional career, the 36-year-old spent three years in the NWSL as an assistant coach before becoming taking charge of Racing. She spent two seasons with NJ/NY Gotham FC, where she helped lead a run to the 2021 Challenge Cup final and the 2021 NWSL Playoffs. Yanez then moved to Louisville, where she helped Racing reach the 2023 UGW NWSL Challenge Cup final — the club's first appearance in an NWSL final.

Mitch Sowerby ASSISTANT COACH

Sowerby moved to Racing ahead of the 2024 season after posting a 46-23-11 mark in four years as a collegiate head coach. At Oklahoma Christian, Sowerby's team posted a 10-win turnaround between his first and second seasons, earning a spot in the Division II Lone Star Conference championship in 2022.

He comes to Racing with experience across multiple levels of the sport. In addition to his college coaching work, he served as the academy director at Edmond Soccer Club in the greater Oklahoma City area. He was the camp director for Nike Soccer Camps in Oklahoma City.

He was an assistant coach for three years at his alma mater, Division II program Rogers State University, following his collegiate career. As a player, Sowerby was a three-time all-conference player who registered more minutes than any other non-goalscorer in Rogers State program history.

Sergio Gonzalez GOALKEEPERS COACH

Gonzalez joined Racing in 2021 after a stint as Indiana University's women's associate head coach. He boasts more than two decades of coaching experience, including additional collegiate stops at Dayton, Slippery Rock, NJIT and Ohio State. Internationally, he has also coached goalkeepers for the U-16 and U-17 national teams.

In his time at Racing, Gonzalez has developed the club into one of the top goalkeeper development programs in the NWSL. He coached Michelle Betos, the club's first No.

1, to a standout year, with the veteran goalkeeper finishing second in the league in saves, with 95. Gonzalez has worked closely with Racing goalkeeper Katie Lund since the club's inception and Lund's selection in the 2020 NWSL Expansion Draft. In two-plus years as Racing's starter, Lund has been among the league's top goalies, with 12 clean sheets and 214 saves. She was named to the 2023 UGW NWSL Challenge Cup All-Tournament Team.

Kiley Polk ASSISTANT COACH

Polk joins the Racing first team staff in 2026 after joining the Racing Louisville Academy in 2022.

Polk began her coaching career with the LouCity and Racing Academy in 2020, working part-time as a U8-U10 coach on both the boys and girls sides. She worked her way up the ladder, first as the U8-U10 director and assistant director at the Racing Academy's Oldham County branch, before eventually moving to the main academy office in 2024.

Charlie Tuley VIDEO ANALYST

Tuley, who has bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan, joined Racing during the 2024 season. He previously worked 14 months as a data and recruitment analyst for the MLS club San Jose Earthquakes and spent time as a data manager for Verified Athletics, a collegiate recruiting database.
