

The image shows a spacious, rustic interior of a wooden chalet. The walls and ceiling are made of light-colored wood with exposed beams. A large, multi-level stone fireplace is the central feature, with a large, dark metal hood extending from the ceiling. To the left, there is a light-colored sectional sofa with patterned cushions and a tufted ottoman. In front of the sofa is a small, round, three-legged coffee table. To the right, a dining area is visible with a table and chairs. A large, patterned rug is on the floor. The overall atmosphere is warm and cozy.

Built in 2025 and designed for groups of up to twelve, Elégie spans four floors in the heart of Méribel. Close enough to everything, private enough to feel entirely your own.

The entire top floor is given over to open-plan living. Floor-to-ceiling windows frame a stunning mountain panorama, a central fireplace anchors the room, and the wrap-around balcony pulls the outside in. It's the kind of space you'll find hard to leave.

Six en-suite bedrooms are spread across two floors, three with private balconies and mountain views. A lift connects all four levels, making the chalet as effortless to navigate as it is beautiful to be in.

Step off the slopes into a dedicated ski and boot room, then choose your evening: the indoor pool, the sauna, the games room.

Méribel's centre is a five-minute walk or one minute by your private chauffeur. The ski lift is closer still.
