Chalet L'Orée sits on its own stretch of hillside above Les Allues, garden and forest running down to a stream, with the fire pit terrace built into the slope looking out over both.

Outside, afternoons end at the fire pit, wrapped in blankets with mulled wine or a glass of champagne.

Indoors, living, dining and kitchen open into one room, built for the whole party to be together - around the fire, around the table, or perched in the window seat with a book and the view.

Downstairs, wellness: an indoor pool, traditional hammam and a fully equipped gym - space to unwind before or after a day on the slopes.

Upstairs, the same hand continues: raw timber beams, contemporary by design, holding five en-suite bedrooms, including two master suites.
