

Remembrance book for Nigel Broadhead

The reaction to the news of Nigel Broadhead's death has been an outpouring of shock, sorrow and affection together with concern for Judy, who is in isolation in St Moritz. As the lockdown prevents any possibility of getting together, saying a prayer in church (unless in solitude) or giving her a hug, Andrew (an SL this season and applicant for Membership) and Kathelijne Marrit (Andrew's wife and a member of the English Church in St Moritz) have had a wonderful idea: to make a memory book to let Judy know that we are thinking of her and remembering Nigel.

They have created a remembrance table, with the altar cloth in Cresta Colours, in the Dorf Church in St. Moritz. Those living locally who would like to go and write down something, or say a prayer, can do so daily between 9:00 and 19:00. People wishing to write a tribute in person are asked to please bring a pen to ensure that hygiene rules are observed, and to extinguish the candle when they leave. Those wishing to send a tribute can email Andrew Marritt; he and Kathelijne have offered to transcribe your thoughts and wishes. I would ask you to keep messages loving but short as this may well be a major undertaking for them.
