November has been a busy and exciting month for our P4Q Pandas! We finished our first HMH Into Reading and Readtopia modules and completed report cards to reflect students' progress. During Parent-Teacher Conferences, we had the opportunity to meet with families to highlight students' progress and discuss next steps for continued growth. We also took time to honor and learn about Veterans Day, recognizing the bravery and sacrifices of those who served our country. On Climate Action Day, students explored ways to reduce waste and protect our planet through mindful choices. As we get ready to enjoy Thanksgiving feasts together across our sites, we're feeling especially thankful for our amazing P4Q students and supportive families!

P4Q@I79

November has been such a joyful month for our P4Q Pandas! Our students wrapped up their first HMH Into Reading and Readtopia modules, and we loved sharing all their growth with families during Parent-Teacher Conferences. We celebrated Veterans Day with gratitude and took action on Climate Action Day by learning fun ways to help our planet. One of our biggest highlights was when our ADL teacher, Ms. Colangelo, opened the snack cart! Our students were so excited to shop, practice their skills, and enjoy the experience! As we head into Thanksgiving, our hearts are full of appreciation for our wonderful students and supportive families.

P4Q@I38

November has been a month full of creativity, learning, and community spirit in our classrooms! We celebrated our amazing paraprofessionals by wearing blue their dedication is essential, and we're so grateful for them. In honor of Climate Action Day, students enjoyed eco-friendly activities like designing vibrant suncatchers, creating an Earth-themed collage, and playing recycling games that taught them how to care for our planet. Our kindergarteners are also making strong progress with their Foundations letter drills and sound recognition, building an important foundation for reading. To end the month, we celebrated Thanksgiving by learning about gratitude, sharing stories, and reflecting on what we appreciate most. It's been a joyful and inspiring month, and we're excited to carry this momentum into December with all the holiday spirit and fun ahead!

P4Q@I61

We are in full swing with our lessons and have made incredible strides in class!

This month, we learned how to write friendly and professional letters. Many students wrote letters of gratitude to their former teachers to thank them for their influence and support. In addition to academic work, our students have been learning a new instrument in music class with Mr. Gonzales. They have each been using the keyboard and practicing how to play different notes. Our student government representatives, Alejandro and Ezekiel, also shared ideas about being resourceful for our planet during Climate Action Day.

As we head into the season of voicing our gratitude, P4Q at 161 are thankful for the support, progress, and memories we are making together every day at school!

P4Q@270

November has been a busy month here at 270! We wrapped up our first HMH module and continued our hard work in Math, Science, Social Studies, and Foundations as well. We had the chance to share about the many successes of our students during our first Parent Teacher conferences of the year, and we enjoyed getting to talk to so many families. Students learned about Veteran's Day and Election Day, as well as participated in Climate Action Day, finding new uses for recycled and reused materials. We ended the month with a site wide Thanksgiving Feast, where we had a chance to enjoy delicious food together and reflect on all that we are thankful for - our wonderful 270 Pandas are at the top of the list! We look forward to more fun and excitement in December.

November was a month full of gratitude, connection, and community at our school! Students and families came together for our Thanksgiving themed Parent Engagement event, where we shared lots of smiles, hands on activities, apple tasting, arts and crafts, dancing and lots of goodies. It was wonderful to see so many families participate and spend quality time learning and celebrating with us.

We participated in Climate Action Day by learning small, meaningful actions students can put into action and care for our Earth.

P4Q@Skillman

November has been an absolute blast here at Skillman School! We finished off the month of October with our Halloween celebration! All our classes are now working fervorously on their curriculum including Foundations and Math. Now that our students have settled into the routine at school we are having a lot of success and growth.

Many of our classes are continuing their learning outside the classrooms during the bi-weekly trips to the grocery store. Shopping skills such as nutrition, money management and time management are reinforced through the trips. In physical education class students are constantly working on their gross motor skills as we focus in on hand-eye coordination skills such as dribbling a ball. In dance and music, students are hard at work preparing for the holiday show!

November was a busy and joyful month at P4Q! We honored Veterans Day with meaningful classroom discussions and Social Studies activities that encouraged students to reflect on gratitude and service. Families joined us for Parent-Teacher Conferences to celebrate student progress and strengthen home-school partnerships. Our K-2 classes gathered for a morning of shared reading, crafting, and yummy snacks. Throughout the month, teachers continued strengthening instruction in ELA and Math. Several classes also enjoyed an exciting trip to the Bronx Zoo, and we recognized Climate Day with conversations about caring for our planet. We ended the month cheering on 213 students during their Balloons Over Broadway Parade, celebrating their creativity and school spirit.
