ANGLICANFAMILYCARE

Kia ora koutou,

This is my final message as General Manager of Anglican Family Care, as I finished in the role in the middle of June. While recruitment is underway, Quentin Blair has temporarily stepped down from the Board of Trustees to oversee the organisation until early August.

It has been a privilege to be part of the Anglican Family Care journey and to lead a team of passionate, highly-skilled kaimahi across Otago, who consistently demonstrate manaakitaka, kotahitaka, and a deep commitment to the whānau we serve.

The last two months have been particularly busy as the agency prepared and has undergone our Te Kāhui Kāhu Level 1 accreditation assessment in May. This has been very successful and we have retained our accreditation.

In May, we participated in a noho at Puketeraki Marae as part of our bicultural journey. This was a wonderful opportunity to reconnect, focus on whanaungatanga and as an agency on how we can be good partners under the Te Tiriti o Waitangi. This supports our ongoing work to partner well with whānau Māori and provide services that are respectful and responsive. Thank you to Puketeraki Marae for hosting us, Mere and Monty Montgomery, and Otago Community Trust for making this visit possible.

Also in May, we held our Dunedin Bingo fundraiser night, hosted by The Two Fat Ladies. It was a great evening full of lots of laughter and fun, and we thank everyone who came along to support our work. Your support helps us continue working alongside tamariki, rangatahi, and whānau.

Thank you once again for supporting the mahi of Anglican Family Care working alongside Otago whānau to support positive change and build hope for the future.

Ngā mihi nui,
Lynette Finnie

Walking alongside whānau: Learnings that brings our values to life

There's something powerful about stepping onto the marae together. In May, 28 of our kaimahi gathered at Puketeraki Marae for a noho experience, that was as much about connection as it was about learning.

From the pōwhiri that welcomed us onto the marae, to sharing kai, kōrero, waiata and even a service at Hui Te Rangiora, kaimahi were immersed in tikanga and the rhythms of marae life. Conversations with Professor John Broughton grounded us in the history of the whenua and its deep connections with the Anglican Church, while time spent in whakawhanaungatanga strengthened relationships across teams.

The heart of the noho was wānanga centred on He waka Kotahi, exploring how we live our values in practice. Through honest kōrero and shared “pearls of wisdom”, kaimahi reflected on what it means to work in the aroaro - the relational space where trust, safety and mana are shaped with whānau.

Since returning, we're seeing stronger connections across our teams and a lift in confidence using te reo and tikanga in everyday practice. Kaimahi are engaging more intentionally, building deeper, more respectful relationships and working alongside whānau in ways that reflect our shared values.

For tamariki and whānau, this means something simple but powerful: support that feels safer, more connected, and more respectful of who they are.

We extend our heartfelt thanks to kaumātua Mere and Monty Montgomery for their guidance and facilitation, and to The Otago Community Trust for their generous grant that made this noho possible.

Ngā Mihi Nui

To our wonderful supporters, partners, donors, volunteers, and champions of whānau across Otago - thank you.

Because of your generosity, time, advocacy, and belief in what we do, Anglican Family Care can walk alongside tamariki, rangatahi, and whānau as they navigate challenge, change, and hope. Your support strengthens connections, builds belonging, and enhances mana, helping whānau feel seen, valued, and supported.

Every conversation you have about our work, every donation made, and every act of kindness shared contributes to our shared vision of strong, connected, and thriving whānau. We truly can't do this mahi without you.

A special thank you to the following Trusts and Foundations for their recent contributions:

Otago Community Trust

- $89,250 to support Central Otago Services, Home-based Family Support in Dunedin, and Oceans Grief and Loss Programme in North Otago, plus an additional $10,000 towards the South Otago Oceans Pilot.

The Clutha Foundation

- $15,000 towards the Ocean Grief & Loss Pilot in South Otago.

Molly Fulton Family Trust

- $4,000 towards supporting our mission, as we work together with Otago whānau to make change that inspires hope for a better future.

Your support helps us continue providing compassionate, practical, and responsive services to families throughout our community. Thank you for standing with us.

Ngā Mihi Nui

Thank you to everyone who came along to our Bingo Night in May! We had a great time!

We've run the numbers and we raised $2,089 and sold 550 raffles!

Well done to everyone who won. This money will go directly to supporting our work with whānau in the Otago region.

See you at our next Bingo Night in Balclutha on 18 September!

Thank you to the local businesses who donated our raffle prizes:

- Monarch Wildlife Cruises
- Ray White Dunedin
- Advantage Tyres
- Olveston Historic Home
- Royal Albatross Centre
- Kowhai Massage Studio
- Common Ground Coffee
- Trends

and to Green Island Rugby Club for providing staff for the bar.

A Legacy of Care and Connection

This month we acknowledge and celebrate Rose Scott as she retires after many years of dedicated service with Anglican Family Care.

Before becoming a familiar and valued presence at AFC, Rose first stepped through the door in 2004 as a social work student on placement, beginning a journey that would span many years.

After time with Oranga Tamariki, she returned in 2020, bringing with her a depth of experience and a continued commitment to walking alongside whānau.

Working across both Care and Home-based Family Support, Rose has been known for her steady, values-led approach. Her practice has always centred on building genuine relationships, supporting whānau to find their own strength, and ensuring people feel heard and respected.

“The best work we can do with whānau and tamariki is to empower them to make the changes they identify they need.”

Feedback from whānau speaks strongly to her impact. Many describe feeling seen, supported, and guided without judgement. Her warmth and humour helped create safe spaces where people could be open about the challenges they were facing. Team Leader Tash shares “people felt heard. Seen. Supported and guided, not judged.”

Rose has also been a passionate advocate for caregivers, recognising the vital role they play in supporting tamariki and rangatahi. More recently, she stepped outside her comfort zone as the face of a Facebook Reels series A Minute With Rose, helping connect with the wider community and encourage others into this important mahi.

Throughout her time at AFC, Rose has embodied our values through her care, authenticity, and commitment to others. She leaves a lasting legacy in the lives of the whānau she has supported and the colleagues she has worked alongside.

We thank Rose sincerely for all she has given and wish her all the very best for what comes next.

OCEANS
Grief and Loss Programme

Bringing OCEANS to South Otago - Together

For the past ten years, our OCEANS Grief and Loss Programme has been a lifeline for tamariki, rangatahi, and adults in North Otago, supporting people to navigate the deep waters of grief and loss with compassion, care, and connection.

We have heard clearly from South Otago whānau, schools, and community partners that this support is needed here too. In response, we are preparing to bring OCEANS to South Otago and establish a pilot programme in the region.

Now, we are inviting our community to be part of making this happen.

Why South Otago

Local whānau need grief support close to home.

Families and community partners have told us that people are often travelling or going without support altogether. Being able to access OCEANS locally will mean tamariki, rangatahi, and whānau can receive care, connection, and support within their own community.

Our Goal

We need help to raise an additional $15,000 to launch and deliver the Oceans pilot programme in South Otago.

Thank you, to The Clutha Foundation who have provided a generous $15,000 grant, and the Otago Community Trust with a substantial $10,000 contribution, alongside the ongoing support of our community.

Why This Matters

Grief touches every life. OCEANS provides a safe space where tamariki, rangatahi, and adults can explore their experiences, build resilience, and find hope alongside others.

This programme has supported many whānau in North Otago over the past decade. Now, South Otago communities deserve access to the same care, closer to home.

How You Can Be Part of This

There are three meaningful ways to support this kaupapa:

Give

Make a donation to help us reach our $15,000 goal and deliver the South Otago pilot.

Attend

You can also support by attending our Bingo Fundraiser in Balclutha on 18 September, a fun community event that brings people together for a shared purpose. (see the below advertisement for details)

Get Involved

We are also seeking people from South Otago who may feel called to be part of the OCEANS Programme. Volunteers will be supported with training and guidance as they walk alongside tamariki and whānau experiencing grief.

You Can Also Help By

- Sharing this campaign with friends, whānau, and colleagues,
- Passing information on to your workplace, church, or community group,
- Sharing our posts on social media

Together, we can bring OCEANS to South Otago and strengthen the support available for whānau across our region.

Every wave starts with a ripple. Be that ripple.

Bingo Night Fundraiser

Gather your family, friends, and bingo-loving whānau for a night of fast paced fun, big laughs, and fabulous prizes in support of Anglican Family Care.

With prizes and support from local businesses, there is sure to be something for everyone.

All proceeds support Anglican Family Care bringing the Oceans Grief and Loss Programme to South Otago.

Turn FUN into FUNdraising

Looking for a way to support Anglican Family Care that brings people together and creates a sense of joy and connection? Community-led fundraising is one of the most powerful (and enjoyable!) ways to support our services.

Here are some creative, whānau friendly FUNdraising ideas to spark your imagination:

High Tea with a Heart

Host a workplace or friends and whānau high tea. Ask guests to dress up, share a plate, and make a donation in place of a ticket. A sprinkle of friendly competitions like best hat, best baking, best tea cup adds extra fun.

Music-a-thon or Dance Party Fundraiser

Whether it's a lunchtime dance-off, a school music-a-thon, or a "request a song" fundraiser, music brings people together. Participants can be sponsored by song, hour, or playlist, and joy is guaranteed!

Raffle for Good

Businesses often love to support raffles through donated prizes. A small effort can make a big impact. Think bake hampers, movie nights, local vouchers, or whānau friendly experiences.

Bake Sales & Shared Kai

Never underestimate the power of kai. A bake sale at work, at school, or alongside a sports game builds connection while raising funds, and the conversations sparked can be just as valuable as the dollars.

Casual Day with a Cause

Invite your workplace, school, or club to wear something fun or theme based for the day in exchange for a donation. Think Christmas jumpers, favourite sports team, or "dress as your younger self" day.

Get Active for Whānau

A walk, run, swim, or bike challenge - solo or as a team - can raise both funds and awareness. Set a personal goal, bring people along, and share your journey.

Creative Challenges

Art auctions, craft markets, knitting challenges, Lego build offs, quiz nights, the possibilities are endless. If it brings people together, it can be a fundraiser.

Every Effort Counts

Whether your fundraiser raises $50 or $5,000, it contributes directly to supporting whānau in our community. Just as importantly, it strengthens connection, fosters shared purpose, and helps spread awareness of the vital work happening across Otago.

If you'd like ideas, resources, or support to get started, or if you'd like to let us know what you're planning, we'd love to hear from you. We're always happy to walk alongside you in your FUNdraising journey.
