FALLING WALLS SCIENCE SUMMIT 2026 | CANADA SPECIAL PARTNER COUNTRY

Community Circle joins Canadian delegation in Berlin

Canada's delegation outside the Falling Walls Science House in Berlin.

THE MOMENT

A defining image from yesterday's Summit

Celebrating our special partnership with Canada alongside the 209 Canadian delegates outside the Falling Walls Science House in Berlin.

Community Circle joined more than 200 Canadian researchers, policy makers and innovation leaders at the 2026 Falling Walls Science Summit, where Canada was featured as the special partner country.

The Summit brought together global leaders to explore major scientific and policy challenges, including Climate, Circular Economy & Sustainability, Health, Medicine & Life Sciences, Deep Tech, Quantum & Engineering of the Future, Geopolitics, Dual-Use Tech & Science Diplomacy.

The Canada Pavilion created opportunities to exchange perspectives and build new international connections.

WHICH ARE THE NEXT WALLS TO FALL?

Photo: Falling Walls Science Summit 2026 / @falling_walls

Falling Walls reinforced the importance of Community Circle's mission: advancing a new way of innovating that brings communities, governments, industry, academia and non-profits together where solutions are needed most, while strengthens Canada's resilience

From global conversations to solutions that work where they are needed most.