Description

The Alpha range is a versatile power solution designed to meet your specific requirements. With its clean, simple design, the Alpha offers a wide variety of customisable options, including protection modules and solutions for data, voice, and audiovisual needs. Whether in a home or office setting, this power solution seamlessly integrates into your workspace. The Alpha also supports dual circuits (dedicated and normal power) and dual voltage (115V and 240V), allowing you to conveniently manage different power circuits within the same compact unit.

Power Configuration

The Alpha power outlet offers complete customisation to meet your specific needs. Customers can select from 24 international power outlet options, various switches, and protection modules, as well as integrate data, voice, and audio-visual connections. It also provides the flexibility to accommodate dual circuits and dual voltage.
