Sara Conte

L'Aquila, Italy

Painter and multimedia artist

Prompt #22: "Take me to the alley." – Gregory Porter

Title: Resonate in your soul (Painting)

As artists, turning out negative influencers and attuning our imagination to the heroic voices that guide us towards our true calling is akin to navigating the vast seas of our inner world.

This journey is one of profound introspection and conscious choice where we must distinguish between the noise of doubt and the whisper of inspiration.

Our lives are composed of myriad voices. Some voices echo fears and insecurities urging us towards paths of safety and mediocrity. Others however, are the heroic voices imbued with wisdom, compassion and the courage to challenge the status quo.

We must embrace the vulnerability that comes with following these heroic voices. It requires courage to defy conventional expectations and to walk paths that may seem uncertain or fraught with challenges. Yet it is precisely in these moments of uncertainty that authentic creativity blooms unbound by the limitations imposed by fear.

My mission is to bring high-level art to those far from the urban center.

There is a profound, urgent need to provide this community with a physical space —right here, in their own backyard.

