Practice Overview

Cameron has extensive nationwide state and federal court experience handling complex commercial litigation across a variety of practice areas. Prior to joining Figari + Davenport, Cameron served as a law clerk for Chief Justice Carolyn Wright of the Fifth District Court of Appeals at Dallas and the Honorable Christine A. Nowak of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas.

These experiences gave him an in-depth understanding of what judges and juries care about when deciding cases. He attributes his many successes—including winning a $5.6 million jury verdict in a bet-the-company lawsuit—to this results-oriented approach.
