I. Streaming Fraud

(a) As referred to under Clause X of the MADverse Digital Distribution Services Agreement, "Streaming Fraud" refers to any intentional act or practice that manipulates, distorts or artificially inflates streaming counts associated with any Tracks, Videos or Content distributed on the MADverse Platform, through automated systems or coordinated human activity, with the intent to falsely increase revenue or influence chart positions, or any other practice designed to exploit streaming, recommendation or royalty systems. This includes, but is not limited to, the following activities:

b) Unauthorized Access: Gaining access to user accounts or using compromised accounts to inflate stream counts or misappropriate revenue.
c) Ghost Streaming: Uploading modified versions of existing Tracks, Videos, Content to create the illusion of popularity and drive revenue without the authorization of the original rights holders. This may include providing a Track or Video or Content with misleading artist names or track titles or any other incorrect metadata that may create confusion and or false expectations among consumers and lead them to incorrect tracks/content.

d) Manipulation of Metrics: Any attempt to artificially enhance the visibility or ranking of a Track, Video or Content through deceptive practices, including misleading advertising or collaboration with third-party services that engage in such practices.
e) Impersonation: Impersonating another artist, songwriter, recording company, music publisher or other entity.
f) Mass-Generated Content: Uploading mass-generated content (as described in the MADverse AI Music Policy) or other spam content designed to manipulate streaming or recommendation algorithms.

II. Copyright Infringement

As referred to under Clause X of the MADverse Digital Distribution Services Agreement, "Copyright Infringement" occurs when an individual or entity uses copyrighted material without permission from the rights holder, thereby violating the legal rights afforded to the creator. This includes, but is not limited to:

a) Unauthorized Distribution: The distribution of Tracks or Videos or Content that has not been properly licensed or authorized by the rightful owner, including any Content containing copyrighted material from others without obtaining the necessary rights or permissions.
b) Alteration or Derivation: Making modifications to copyrighted material, including remixes or adaptations, without obtaining the necessary rights or permissions.
c) Failure to Attribute: Publishing or distributing any Tracks or Videos or Content without giving appropriate credit to the original creators, which may mislead users about the authorship and ownership of the material.

III. Consequences

You are strictly prohibited from engaging in any activities that constitute Streaming Fraud or Copyright Infringement, or that otherwise breach this Fraud & Infringement Policy. If it is brought to our attention or if we find that you are engaging in or have committed such activities, MADverse reserves the right to impose the following measures:

a) Withholding of Royalties: MADverse shall withhold, reclaim, seize or recover any revenue generated as a result of such activity, as determined by MADverse and shall not be liable to disburse any amounts to you. Such streams will not earn royalties or count towards public streaming numbers, charts, or any recommendation algorithms. In the case of mass-generated content, this paragraph (a) applies only as set out in Clause X(c) of the MADverse Digital Distribution Services Agreement. MADverse may withhold only the revenue generated by the Tracks, Videos or Content concerned and will forfeit it only where the streams are found to be artificial or a Distribution Channel has deducted, withheld or penalised that revenue. In all other cases, the revenue will be held for up to [twelve (12)] months pending review and then released, less any amounts that MADverse is entitled to set off.
b) Content Removal: MADverse may further remove any Tracks, Videos, or Content linked to fraudulent activity from the Platform and associated distribution channels.
c) Restrictions: MADverse may, as it considers proportionate, pause new releases from your account for up to ninety (90) days, reduce the number of releases you may submit in any period, or subject your submissions to enhanced review before release.

d) Account Suspension or Termination: MADverse reserves the right to suspend or permanently delete your account and/or terminate your subscription to the applicable MADverse subscription plan as the case may be.
e) Legal Action: MADverse reserves the right to pursue legal remedies against you, including recovery of any financial damages incurred by MADverse or its stakeholders.
