Immune Support: Intravenous Hyperbaric Ozone and Oxygen Therapy

IV Ozone Therapy uses a whole-body, physiological approach to regenerative medicine by working with the body's innate healing mechanisms to support optimal (re)balance and functioning.

Using a secure, safety-locked hyperbaric machine, the IV Ozone procedure ozonates approximately 250ml of blood at a 70 gamma concentration of ozone, and oxygenates the entire volume of blood at each pass. This process activates the body's own healing mechanisms and stimulates the immune system, modulates inflammatory pathways, supports tissue and organ repair, oxygenates the body, and more.

On average, it takes about 30–60 minutes to complete a 5-Pass or 10-Pass IV Ozone procedure, depending on hydration status, treatment history, and individual response. A single 10-Pass IV Ozone session oxygenates and ozonates 2–2.5 litres of blood.

IV Ozone Therapy has been shown to have an excellent safety profile and a robust potential for clinical applications. Intravenous ozone therapy has been shown to:

- Help the body manage its toxic load by increasing antioxidant production
- Increase immune system function and resilience to the development of disease
- Increase circulation and promote oxygenation of tissue
- Reduce blood sugar levels and increase metabolism
- Repair mitochondrial dysfunction and promote optimal mitochondrial function
- Increase energy levels
- Reverse visible signs of aging
- Help support wound healing, tissue regeneration and overall recovery

IV Ozone Therapy 10 Pass Compassionate Pricing (or 2x/week) $650

Compassionate pricing available for those holding a cancer diagnosis and those meeting financial aid criteria. Also applies to patients coming in 2x/week or more.

Ultraviolet Blood Irradiation (UBI/UVBI)

Ultraviolet blood irradiation (UBI/UVBI) uses UV light to destroy microorganisms such as bacteria, viruses, and fungi. This therapy has been safely used since the 1940s. Ultraviolet blood irradiation is a procedure that exposes the blood to UV light to boost the body’s immune response and fight off infections. With exposure to UV light, immune system response increases while the UV light concurrently kills infecting organisms, making them “antigenic”. This further activates and directs the immune system to specific infections that the body is attempting to overcome.

UVBI add on to IV Ozone	$225
UVBI 1 Pass Solo	$325

- Remove warts, skin tags and fungal infections from the body
- Auxiliary functions can treat chronic vaginal infections, like stubborn BV and yeast

- Cellular attunement to over 100 frequencies

Single Hocatt Session	$165
Hocatt Package (10 Sessions) 	$1,450

Pulsed Electromagnetic Field (PEMF)

We are electromagnetic beings. Our bodies have electrical gradients that store energy much like chemical gradients do (those are used by the cells to pass nutrients back and forth). Nothing happens without an electromagnetic change! Our Pulsed Electromagnetic Field Bed (PEMFs) uses a magnetic field to repair and energize the body. PEMFs differ from other types of electrotherapies in that it is non-contact, there are no electrodes or pads making contact with your body. It has been shown to:

- Slow aging by neutralizing free radicals
- Stimulate collagen production
- Boost cellular respiration and repair
- Increase energy and oxygenation of tissue

- Increase metabolism
- Decrease muscle tension, gets rid of lactic acid and reduces pain caused by spasms
- Reduce swelling and inflammation
- Boost the immune system, improve lymphatic circulation and enhance cellular detoxification
- Releases endorphins and increases feelings of wellbeing

Mental, Emotional and Spiritual Wellness

Microcurrent Neurofeedback Therapy

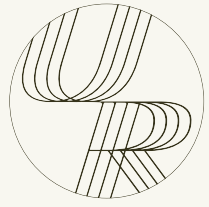

Microcurrent Neurofeedback produces fast results in a limited number of sessions, and the ease and simplicity of treatment all distinguish it from a traditional neurofeedback device. Micro Current Neurofeedback produces a measurable change in the brainwaves without conscious effort from the individual receiving the feedback. The result is a changed brainwave state and a much greater ability for the brain and nervous system to regulate themselves. Micro Current Neurofeedback is imperceptible to the client and requires no conscious effort.
