

“...but we simply cannot do it alone!”

– Chicago (Kander, Ebb, Fosse)

The Roanoke Valley Choral Society, incorporated 1974, performs to the pleasure and delight of audiences in Southwest Virginia and beyond. Our singers love to make music together, and to share the beauty and joy of singing with others. Whether we are performing great classical choral works, rousing spirituals, or popular tunes of different eras, we aim to make enjoyable choral music accessible to the Roanoke Valley.

One way we accomplish this is by offering free concerts - we accept only at-will donations from attendees. Our mission and our challenge is to provide free admission without compromising quality of performance. As a not-for-profit organization, we rely on funding from generous patron contributions, and advertisements printed in our concert programs. Other than our creative staff, all individuals associated with RVCS are volunteers, donating their time and talents. For more than 50 years, we have performed choral literature at the highest possible standards. Community members and businesses like you have made our continued existence possible. Thank you!
