

Dear dealers,

Around 250 participants were at the Zeche Waltrop this weekend – to wrench, test, discuss, compare, and openly exchange ideas with our teams from all departments.

There was a great surprise moment during the presentation of the new height-adjustable suspension fork, which will equip all Kettwiesel ONE models starting in spring.

The special sale turned into a complete sell-out: everything gone. We are working on better time management for equal opportunity for all interested parties for next year – promised!

And we also took a lot with us: your technical feedback, your perspective from workshop and sales, your assessments of our products and tools. Marec Hase summed it up well at the beginning:

“We believe that genuine exchange and understanding can only happen through direct contact. Here, dedicated people from management, workshop, and sales meet on equal terms our colleagues from all our departments. An atmosphere emerges that you won't find at any trade fair – open, curious, warm, and full of enthusiasm.”

And further:

“Our partners are our top priority. They should be the first to see, experience, and test our innovations – directly in practice and in personal exchange.”

All impressions from the weekend – workshop, test course, evening programme, workshops – can be found in our photo gallery:

Best regards
