Subject- Exemptions for CAF-Qualified Students

Respected Sir,

We are pleased to introduce the National College of Business Administration & Economics (NCBA&E), an institution established in 1994 and granted its charter in 2002 (L-7532). Recently, NCBA&E has been elevated to Al-Hamra University.

Over the years, we have remained committed to academic excellence by offering a wide range of programs in business and finance, including ADP in Accounting & Finance, ADP Fintech, BS in Accounting & Finance, BS Fintech, MPhil in Finance, and PhD in Management Sciences. Our strength lies in our highly qualified, experienced, and versatile faculty, who bring with them vast expertise, making us a recognized and competitive institution in the field of higher education.

In our continuous efforts to strengthen academic pathways for students, we now intend to grant exemptions for CAF-qualified students, enabling them to be admitted directly into the 5th Semester of the BS Accounting & Finance or BS Fintech programs at NCBA&E.

In accordance with HEC policy, 60 credit hours comprising 20 courses will be exempted for ICAP's CAF-passed students. Furthermore, to complete the remaining two years of the BS Accounting & Finance or BS Fintech, an additional 75 credit hours will be offered to these students as part of their degree completion.

Upon completion of the bachelor's degree, candidates will be eligible to pursue further studies in NCBA&E (Al-Hamra University)'s MPhil in Finance and PhD in Management Sciences programs.

NCBA&E (Al-Hamra University) is interested in collaborating with ICAP to facilitate CAF-passed students and to further strengthen our professional relationship with your esteemed institution.

We look forward to enhancing our mutual collaboration and developing a strong academic linkage with ICAP through this initiative.

Sincerely,
National College of Business Administration & Economics (Al-Hamra University)
