Is property asset management the final frontier for digitalisation in schools?

81 per cent of school business managers, bursars and facilities managers said they considered managing their buildings property and assets a challenge.

Schools make significant investments in a vast collection of property, buildings and assets; from multi-function performance spaces, specialised classrooms and sport facilities to modern energy efficient air-conditioning, solar energy and water management.

But too often those responsible for ongoing asset and facility management don't have the support or systems they need.

The knowledge of plans, building management, underground services and historical building projects are rarely housed in one central place.

It's time for plans, maps and manuals to join the rest of the school data in the cloud.

AssetWhere helps your school easily visualise, plan and manage your property and asset risk with digital twin and facilities management tools. AssetWhere lets you visualise every detail of your buildings, rooms, services, assets and grounds in user-friendly maps.
