Nerves of Jelly

HIS Holiness Clive the First? Newly svelte singer and rapper Jelly Roll (above) performed at the TJ Martell Foundation gala last week in front of a packed crowd, and he told us that he was a bundle of nerves because of one attendee — music maven Clive Davis, who was being honored with the Circle of Legends award. “I’m more nervous than usual,” he confessed, and even compared it to another recent gig — performing at Vatican City as part of the Grace for the World concert in front of Pope Leo XIV.
