

Complex ADC development. Simplified.

One Coordinated European Development and Manufacturing Platform

ADC development brings together two highly specialized disciplines: biologics and high-potency chemistry. We unite them within one coordinated European pathway.

By combining Rezon Bio's expertise in antibody development and biologics manufacturing with Polpharma API CDMO's capabilities in payload-linker development and high-potency GMP manufacturing, we support ADC programs across the critical stages of development and supply.

Accelerate your ADC program toward the clinic and beyond.
Reduced complexity – simplified project management – smooth execution

Biologics Expertise

Building the biological foundation of your ADC

Rezon Bio is a science-driven, price-competitive European biologics CDMO with extensive experience in antibody development and manufacturing, supporting programs from early development through GMP clinical and commercial supply

Capabilities:

- Cell line development
- Process development
- Analytical development & characterization
- Scale-up and technology transfer
- GMP drug substance manufacturing (mAb intermediate)
- Regulatory CMC support

Payload-Linker & HPAPI Expertise

Mastering the high-potency chemistry behind your ADC

Trusted European CDMO combining decades of pharmaceutical manufacturing excellence with specialized expertise in highly potent compounds and ADC payload-linkers. Supported by advanced containment, robust analytical capabilities, GMP manufacturing, and a strong regulatory track record, we transform complex chemistry into scalable, reliable supply.

Capabilities:

- Payload and linker development
- Process optimization and impurity control
- High-potency handling (OEB up to 6)
- GMP manufacturing Analytical development and quality control
- Global regulatory expertise

Our Four-Step

ADC Development Pathway

Two specialist platforms. One ADC journey.

EMA- and FDA- approved GMP manufacturing facilities

Streamlined collaboration, fewer suppliers, greater efficiency, full transparency

European manufacturing base designed for a resilient and reliable supply

Scalable capabilities supporting your ADC ambitions

Let's build the most efficient ADC path from development to clinical and commercial supply together

contact us

bd@rezonbio.com | cdmo@polpharma.com