1. What is a cookie?

Cookies are small text files that are generated by the Websites that you are viewing, allowing the concerned Website to store information as you navigate web pages. These text files contain session data that can be useful to improve your browsing experience. Session-based cookies last only while your browser is open and are automatically deleted when you close your browser. Persistent cookies last until you or your browser deletes them or until they expire.

All of the cookies used by the Websites are safe for your computer and they only store information that is used by the browser. These cookies cannot execute code and cannot be used to access content on your computer. Many of these cookies are necessary to ensure the proper functioning of the Website. They do not contain malware or viruses.

Cookies, by themselves, do not tell us any personally identifiable information.

2. What is the purpose of our cookies?

We use cookies for the following purposes:

Similarly, our partners may use cookies to provide us with information about your interactions with their services, but use of those third-party cookies would be subject to the service provider's policies

3. What third-party cookies do we use?

We may partner with third-party ad networks to either display advertising on our Websites or to manage our advertising on other websites. Our ad network partners use cookies and web beacons to collect non-personally identifiable information about your activities on this and other websites to show you targeted advertising based on your interests. We may also partner with third-party data providers to match IP addresses with company names and contact names. Our data partners may use cookies and web beacons for the purpose of matching IP addresses.

4. What can you do if you don't want cookies to be set or want them to be removed, or if you want to opt-out of interest-based targeting?

You may voluntarily deactivate and/or eliminate cookies by following your Internet browser's instructions. If you limit the ability of the Websites and Software to set cookies, you may worsen your overall user experience and/or lose the ability to access the Services.

Corsmed reserves the right not to provide you with the Software if you deactivate and/or eliminate cookies because some base functionality and the security of the Software depend on the use of cookies. For more information on third-party cookies and how to reject such cookies, please see:
