Aircraft Maintenance Technician / Basic Theory Training

The Canadian Council for Aviation & Aerospace (CCAA) is pleased to offer a new pathway towards Transport Canada AME licensing. Participants can now complete CCAA online basic theory training, which in conjunction with the required practical training and experience hours affords the user the right to take the Transport Canada technical and regulatory exams. For more information on Transport Canada aircraft maintenance engineer licenses please visit the Transport Canada website.

CCAA online basic theory training is fully asynchronous and available 24/7, allowing participants to complete courses at their own pace and at times convenient to them.
