WELCOME

Good ole statistics tell us that in January of this year we hit a new low of those that indicated they were “very happy” in their life. It isn’t all doom and gloom. The middle percentage of those content with their life remained stable and still the vast majority. It has always and remains so that the world is looking for happiness and follows those who are happy. It is an opportunity for our families and homes to shine the light of happiness. But there is something that must come before that? The secret ingredient of happiness? Let’s find out.

Welcome to Centerville
