WELCOME

The Hippocratic oath (that may not have been written by Hippocrates himself), is historically an oath of ethics taken by physicians, and today almost completely out of use. In its original form, it requires the new medical doctor to swear by a number of the healing gods (Apollo, Hygiene, Panacea, among others). The oath established a posture of service and a commitment to do what is best for the hurting. The commitment the Christian takes to the God of heaven is to that end, to serve and do what is best for the hurting. So today (and all through the month of October) while we celebrate and appreciate all who in their professional commitment to serve and do what is best for the hurting, we are reminded of Jesus and His call on our lives.
