

Supporting global innovators with versatile gearbox and component manufacturing capabilities.

Atlas Global is a manufacturer, builder, and importer of power transmission components and assemblies for global innovators.

With access to versatile manufacturing capabilities including production gear, spline, and shaft machining, and complete gearbox assembly, we've built a global reputation as a vital resource for industrial motion control components. Our comprehensive machining, inspection, and domestic warehousing capabilities empower innovators across a multitude of industries to deliver quick, quality solutions that enable end customers to compete at global scale.

Competitive pricing with unmatched quality.

Domestic storage and inventory management.

Specializing in mid- to high-volume production.

The highest quality gears, shafts, and custom components, crafted, inspected, and delivered to your exact specifications.

Processes

Domestic Warehousing
Gear Inspection
On-demand Delivery

Gears

straight bevel, spiral bevel, spur, helical, crowned, worm, ground, miter

Our gears help harvest crops, produce your favorite beverage, and even turn amusement park rides. Every part is a custom part, so regardless of your requirements, our expert craftsmanship ensures unparalleled precision and absolute quality.

Shafts

input, output, splined

Our shafts are used to extract oil, pump fire suppressants, support trash collection, and even drive electric vehicles. Just like our gears, our shafts are custom, precision-made to your exact specifications, then verified in our ISO 9001 inspection department.

Components

machined blanks, forgings, machined castings, gearbox assemblies, sprockets

Our custom components are fabricated from the same high-quality ferrous and nonferrous materials as our gears and shafts. They can feature unique geometries, special machining operations, or be a complementary component to your gearbox assembly.
