Thank you all for your knowledge and willingness to help me with my sewing journey. I recently received my sewing machine and, after 2 hours of practice, managed to create a functioning jock strap. It may not be the prettiest, but it works! I'm excited to continue improving it until it's magnificent. Looking forward to sharing the sewing tutorials with you all in October, and I'm excited to finally release these new patterns, including the Posing Suit, Full waist open rear underwear, engineered pouch jockstrap, bodysuit, wrestling singlet, basic tights, and Strappy Jockstrap. For those who can't view the video tutorial, please visit my YouTube channel at . I've been working hard on some new designs for men's swimwear, including a posing suit that looks like bodybuilders wear, full waist open rear underwear similar to backless jockies but with fabric going all the way around the waist, and engineered pouch jockstraps. I'm planning to release these patterns before the end of October, and I'll also be working on some woven patterns which might not be available until early next year. I want to thank you for shopping my patterns, and I appreciate your suggestions for new designs. Please keep them coming! A length of slightly broader elastic, measuring approximately twenty-nine inches in length. Sewing supplies include a needle and thread for attaching the pouch to elastic straps as well as the elastic waistband. Additionally, a thimble, yarn needle, and three stitch markers are provided for weaving together any stray ends and marking significant points in the sewing process.
