Luigi Scala insignito della Commenda dell'Ordine al Merito della Repubblica

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (L. C.) — Il Console Generale di Boston, Dottor Alfred Trinchieri, ha reso noto come il Presidente della Repubblica d'Italia, ha insignito il Cav. Luigi Scala dell'onorificenza di Commendatore dell'Ordine al Merito della Repubblica.

Questa è la terza onorificenza che Scala riceve dal Governo italiano; nel 1921 egli venne insignito della Croce di Cavaliere della Corona d'Italia; nel 1949 ricevette la Stella della Solidarietà ed ora la terza, quella di Commendatore.

Tra i numerosi individui di nostra razza negli Stati Uniti, che hanno ricevuto tali onorificenze, pochi ve ne sono che come Luigi Scala le abbiano realmente meritate, giacché la sua vita americana, iniziata nel 1910, quando giunse in questi Stati Uniti, è intrecciata di mille attività spese a pro del buon nome d'Italia, a pro di intensificate ed amichevoli relazioni tra le due nazioni, a pro delle necessità inerenti alla vita degli emigrati.

Durante gli anni che precedettero la prima guerra mondiale, Scala fu rappresentante del Governo Italiano e fu promotore di una banca popolare tra i connazionali emigrati nella Louisiana. Fu durante tale guerra che egli scrisse articoli settimanali sui giornali americani di New Orleans, facendo meglio conoscere ed apprezzare lo sforzo bellico dell'Italia.

Le sue attività patriottiche continuarono durante gli anni spesi nel New Jersey e nella città di New York, come vice presidente del Banco di Napoli. Ma fu specialmente negli anni che ha vissuto nello Stato del Rhode Island, che le sue numerose attività si sono moltiplicate sia come Grande Venerabile dell'Ordine Figli d'Italia per venticinque anni, sia come presidente della Columbus Bank of Providence.

Durante gli anni della seconda guerra mondiale, aiutò in ogni maniera possibile quegli italiani, e furono molti, che non essendo cittadini, erano considerati stranieri dalle autorità americane. Al termine del conflitto, Scala aprì un ufficio gratuito nella Casa dell'Ordine per i connazionali che avevano degli interessi in Italia o che semplicemente desideravano notizie dei loro cari dispersi.

Egli fu a capo della campagna nell'invio di pacchi ai bisognosi del dopo guerra; diresse la campagna per gli alluvionati dell'Italia Settentrionale e quella per l'invio di lettere nella campagna elettorale per combattere il comunismo; lavorò alacremente per la Croce Rossa; per l'aumento di libri italiani e per la costituzione di una sala italiana nella libreria pubblica di Providence e per l'affissione di una targa in onore di Giovanni da Verrazzano nella State House.

Ma dove il suo spirito rifugge maggiormente, è nella rassegna domenicale alla radio, dove per anni ha parlato agli italo-americani di ciò che di più notevole vi sia nelle notizie della vita civile e politica nonché religiosa d'Italia. Egli parla a quei italo-americani che ancora intendono l'armoniosa lingua della terra natia, e non per alcun compenso monetario, e non per incarico di altri individui, ma di sua spontanea volontà; e semplicemente perché egli ama la sua gente; perché desidera che le relazioni culturali fra l'America e l'Italia vengano sempre più a farsi più solide, perché gli emigranti siano fedeli all'America senza dimenticare le fulgide tradizioni della loro terra natale.

Scelto dal Governo americano a far risorgere la Columbus Bank di Providence, Scala dal 1934 ad oggi è stato la vita di questo istituto bancario, che egli ha rivitalizzato in maniera che al presente è alla pari di altre simili banche dello Stato. La ragione si trova nella popolarità che egli ha goduto e tuttora gode tra la massa di nostra gente, che non trova ostacoli quando desidera parlargli di affari o semplicemente chiedergli un consiglio.

La numerosa comunità del Rhode Island, si congratula vi-years or more been a leader in the business, civic and cultural affairs of our state. He has taken part in every undertaking for the betterment of the Italians and Italian-Americans. Whenever an opportunity came to render his services for a better understanding between the United States and Italy or for the welfare of the Italian community in Rhode Island, Mr. Scala has been one of the first, if not the first, to spearhead the programs. In recent years, he has interceded for the revision of the Immigration Laws.

In 1920 the Cross of Cavaliere Della Corona D'Italia was conferred upon him by the Italian government, in recognition of his services in cementing Italian-American amity.

In 1948, Mr. Scala was awarded the Star of the Italian Solidarity for his active role in raising $45,000 in the Po Valley Drive to help stricken people of that area.

Commendatore Scala immigrated to America in 1910 and after numerous positions in banking institutions in New York he came to Providence in 1934 as president of the Columbus National Bank.

He was elected Grand Venerable of the Order Sons of Italy in Rhode Island in 1935. Mr. Scala was re-elected to his thirteenth consecutive term as grand venerable in July 19. Other activities in which he took a conspicuous part were: the erection of a plaque in honor of Da Verrazzano, the establishment of an Italian Collection and Reading Room in the Providence Public Library; the promoting of the study of the Italian language in public and parochial schools; and the raising of funds for the Italian Red Cross, the American Red Cross, and other numerous fund-raising activities during the past quarter century.

Mr. Scala is married to the former Marjorie Alford McGuire and they reside at 125 Prospect Street.

Sistemazione Definitiva Del "Teatro di Verdura" a Palermo

PELERMO, (Agit) — La necessità, da lungo tempo avvertita, di dotare la capitale della Sicilia di un grande teatro per le rappresentazioni estive, è stata già da alcuni mesi rilevata dall'Ente Provinciale per il Turismo, il quale nel luglio scorso si fece promotore di un comitato di gestione del "Teatro di Verdura" di Villa Castelnovo, e composto dal Barone Giovanni Agnello di Ramata, Presidente dell'E.P.T., dal Barone Leopoldo De Simone, Sovrintendente del Teatro Massimo, dall'avv. Cosmo Acampora, Presidente dell'Azienda Autonoma di Turismo per Palermo e Monreale, dal dr. Griffo, Assessore al Turismo in rappresentanza del Comune, e dal dr. Emilio La Fisci.

Ora, dopo le rappresentazioni svoltesi sul finire della scorsa stagione estiva, sta per essere realizzato il progetto secondo il quale il Teatro di Verdura sarà definitivamente sistemato. Accanto allo scenario naturale, costituito da altissimi e secolari cipressi, saranno sistemati cioè la platea, i camerini per gli artisti i servizi, gli impianti di illuminazione ed il palcoscenico.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS..

With the Prep season more than half-finished the races in both the Public and Catholic districts have run more or less true to form.

Easton's high flying Eagles have just about made a shambles of the Public loop. It appears as if they will merely have to go through the motions in their remaining games to be crowned the champions. The rest of the clubs just don't have the firepower. Coming off opening losses to St. Aloysius and Istrouma, the Eagles have rebounded and really turned it on, both offensively and defensively. Along the way boys like Jerry Negrotto, Billy Hatchett and Billy Carson have proved themselves bona fide All-Prep candidates.

Over in the Catholic league a fight to the finish is shaping up between De La Salle and Jesuit with Holy Cross having an outside chance. Championship aspirations of St. Aloysius and Redemptorist have gone by the boards. De La Salle has truly been the surprise team in the city. Given only an outside chance for the title, if any at all, in the pre-season dope, they have emerged as the only undefeated team in the city to this date and along with La Grange, the only undefeated triple-A teams in the state. Close on their heels in district play however are the Jesuit Jays who are also undefeated in league play and it may very well be that their clash with the Cavs will decide the whole race.

In the individual city-wide scoring race Ken Martin of Jesuit still leads with 72 points, followed by Russ Baliano of West Jefferson and Pat Screen, also of Jesuit. Below are the League standings at the moment.

CATHOLIC				PUBLIC
De La Salle	2	0	0	Nicholls	2	0	1
Holy Cross	1	1	0	West Jefferson	1	1	0
St. Aloysius	1	2	0	East Jefferson	1	2	1
Redemptorist	0	3	0	McDonough	0	1	1
				Fortier	0	3	0

As a closing note we'd like to mention that in our column of Nov. 27 we will offer our version of an All-Prep team, the first Italo-American News all-star team. Till then, let's hope our crystal ball doesn't become cloudy.

Hometown in Italy Shares Fortune of Boy Who Left

SAN MARCO D'URRI, Italy (AP)—For centuries this barren, remote mountain village knew only poverty. But its inhabitants—all 284 of them—became stockholders Sunday in the world's largest bank.

To each one, from 18-month-old Orietta Perazzo to 87-year-old Anna Ferretto, went 25 shares of Bank of America stocks, gifts from two sons of a village orphan who made good in the United States.

In dollars and cents, that's about $1,200 worth of stocks, which last year paid a dividend of $1.80 a share, or $45 for 25 shares. (Bank of America stock closed at $47.87 a share this weekend, after going as high as $48.25 Thursday.)

In terms of the toll and hardship the villagers are used to, the gift promises enough money from annual dividends alone to meet their meager needs for several months each year.

For San Marco D'Urri, 30 miles south of Genoa, demands much of its residents but gives little in return. Its rugged Apennine Mountain soil is the poorest of farm land. It is so remote it can be reached only by a mile-long rocky footpath. It has no autos, no policemen, no phones and only one radio set—in its lone barroom.

Village youngsters with an eye to the future usually leave it. Such a boy was Leopoldo Pietro Saturno. In 1878, when he was just turning 20, he went off to the United States. Ten years later he sent for an orphan girl of the village and married her.

In Reno, Nev., he built up a fortune in real estate before he died in 1919. His sons, Joseph and Victor, never saw San Marco D'Urri. But they often heard their father talk about it.

This year—100 years after their father's birth—they decided to do something for his old home town. They hit on the idea of gifts of bank stock—gifts totaling a third of a million dollars.

On Sunday, Aurelio Gandini, director of the Bank of America for Italy, delivered the stock.

Gandini walked happily up the same twisting mountain trail that Leopoldo Saturno walked down when he left the village 81 years ago.

"This is the most beautiful banking operation in my 37 years of banking," he said.

Following him were four officials from the Bank of America headquarters in San Francisco and Anne Giannini, granddaughter of Amedeo Giannini, founder of the Bank of America and a native of this same Apennine Mountain area. Fireworks greeted them.

Inside the village church Gandini started handing out the stock certificates. Little Orietta Perazzo was given hers first. Her father signed a receipt for her. Parents did the same for 54 other children. Six of the oldest residents signed their receipts with an X. They had never learned to write.

Many had refused to believe the news of the gift. Three—an aged woman and her two grown sons—still did not believe it and refused to attend the ceremony. They said "Someone is trying to make fools of us." Gandini said their stock would be kept for them until they change their minds.

dia ha sostenuto l'ultimo vittorioso incontro con la Germania; l'unico match perduto durante i Campionati è stato quello contro la Svezia.

L'Italia, con l'affermazione della squadra a Palermo, ha vinto per la quarta volta consecutiva i Campionati Europei di Bridge; le precedenti vittorie sono state conseguite negli anni '56, '57 e '58 a Vienna, Stoccolma ed Oslo. La squadra italiana è altresì da tre anni campione del mondo ed il successo palermitano lascia prevedere una totale affermazione dei nostri bridgisti ai prossimi Campionati Internazionali che si svolgeranno negli Stati Uniti.

Per la classifica finale, l'Italia ha totalizzato complessivamente 28 punti, staccandosi di tre punti dalla Francia. Seguono nell'ordine: Gran Bretagna, Svezia, Norvegia, Svizzera, Finlandia, Olanda, Egitto, Danimarca, Austria, Belgio, Irlanda, Libano, Germania, Spagna. Tra le squadre femminili, l'Italia si è piazzata al settimo posto, mentre il lauro della vittoria è andato alla squadra della Gran Bretagna che ha totalizzato ben 17 punti.

I Campionati Europei di Bridge, che si sono disputati a Palermo nel settembre scorso hanno visto nella capitale dell'isola i rappresentanti di 16 Paesi e numerosissimi giornalisti inviati speciali per seguire i vari incontri. L'Ente Provinciale per il Turismo, riferisce l'Agenzia Agit, che ha curato ogni fase dell'importante manifestazione, ha permesso agli ospiti di gustare il soggiorno palermitano e di conoscere le località più affascinanti e suggestive del suo itinerario turistico.

TWENTY-FIVE SHARES of Bank of America stock Sunday are presented to 18-month-old Orietta Perazzo, the youngest resident of Marco d'Urri, Italy. Every one of the small town's 284 citizens received a similar gift, thanks to a native son who built up a real estate fortune in Reno, Nev. The gifts were made by sons of Italian immigrant Leopoldo Pietro Saturno, who left the village in 1878. (Story in Sec. 1, Page 34.)

Grocer to Mark 50 Years in Trade

"Mr. Jim" will celebrate his 50th anniversary as a New Orleans grocer Monday.

James Bacino, the smiling Italian grocer everyone calls Mr. Jim, has been operating a food market at 1384 Annette since 1909.

The 75-year-old grocer owned the business until 1952 when he sold it to his son-in-law, Lloyd Brinker.

Despite the sale, Bacino has been back at his market each afternoon to take over operations for Brinker.

A native of Italy, Mr. Jim came to the United States at the age of 15 in 1900 and became a naturalized citizen in 1923.

Celebrating the anniversary will be Mr. and Mrs. Brinker, two other daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Giambelluca and Mrs. Vic Halacz; three sons, Joseph, John and Lucas Bacino, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
