Saturday 21 June: St Aloysius Gonzaga 12.30pm ST 1st Holy Communion Mass 3.00pm ST 1st Holy Communion Mass Vigil Mass of The Most Holy Body & Blood of Christ 5.00pm STM: Roger Livens RIP 6.30pm ST: Int: Private Intention		We instinctively go to the gospels and specifically to the accounts of the Last Supper in Matthew, Mark and Luke, to receive the instruction of Jesus concerning the eucharist. “Take this and eat it, this is my body”, “drink from this all of you, for this is my blood”, are the stark words which describe the command which Jesus left. There is though an earlier account which pre-dates the gospels by some twenty-five or thirty years and is therefore closer to the living memory of those who were present at the event than we may realise.
Sunday 22 June : The Most Holy Body & Blood of Christ 9.30am SH: Int: Our Eucharistic Ministers 11.00am ST: Int: Thanksgiving Carl Alexis, birthday and blessings received.		In his first letter to the Corinthians, which can be accurately dated to about the year 55 AD and therefore to within 20 years of the actual event, St Paul refers to the tradition which he himself had received concerning the events of that meal. It was, as he tells his community, the tradition which had been handed on to him and by implication handed onto him by those who had been present. St Paul tells us in his letter to the Galatians that after his encounter with the Risen Jesus, he had met with Peter (Cephas) and stayed with him for fifteen days during which the account of that night, which he describes with specific details, must have been passed on to him. He speaks of the night of Jesus’ betrayal, when Jesus took some bread, broke it, gave thanks, and said “this is my body, which is for you, do this in remembrance of me” Similarly with the cup after supper he said “this cup is the new covenant in my blood, whenever you drink it do this as a memorial of me”. This account then is the most ancient and closest in terms of chronology to the events of the night of the Last Supper. Integral to the account which St Paul relates are the two themes of remembrance and thanksgiving, and it is these two concepts that are essential to our understanding of what happened then, and by corollary to what happens now.
Monday 23June: Feria 9.30am ST. 3.00pm ST: Divine Mercy Chaplet
Tuesday 24 June: Nativity of St Hohn the Baptist 9.30 am ST Int: 3.00pm ST: Divine Mercy Chaplet
Wednesday 25 June : Feria 9.30am SH: 3.00pm ST: Divine Mercy Chaplet
Thursday 26 June : Feria 3.00pm ST: Divine Mercy Chaplet
Friday 27 June : Sacred Heart of Jesus 3.00pm ST: Divine Mercy Chaplet 7.30pm STM: Int: Sr Bridget Rattigan (Jubilee)		The concept of remembrance as summed up by the Greek word anamnesis , is so much more than a simple recording of what took place. We are not looking back with any sense of nostalgia to that night. We are not trying to imagine ourselves amongst the disciples gathered in the Upper Room. Nor when we come to consider the notion of thanksgiving, as recounted by the Greek word eucharistein , should we do so with any concept of it being a redundant deed that sits in the dust of ages past. What we take part in is the living and life-giving tradition which has been passed on to us down the centuries, just as it was passed on to Paul. It is no re-enactment of a past event, but a here and now taking part in the on-going presence of living memory and active thanksgiving, for as St Paul says “whenever you eat this bread and drink this cup you are proclaiming the Lord’s death until he comes”.
Saturday 28 June: The Immaculate Heart of Mary Vigil Mass of Sts Peter and Paul 5.00pm STM: Sr Margaret Byrne (Jubilee) 6.30pm ST: Int: Prop Populo		Deacon Anthony
Sunday 29 June : Sts Peter and Paul 9.30am SH: Int: Peter Pullen 11.00am ST: Int: Michael Miji, Baldwin Miji & all Family members RIP

		This Weekend we celebrate the great solemnity of the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ – Corpus Christi. Across the weekend within our three Churches 57 children will be making their First Holy Communion, receiving for the first time the real presence of Jesus in the sacrament of his body and blood. We pray for them and their families on this their special day. May they now continue to receive him week by week as they continue to grow in love and faith in their journey, understanding that his presence in the sacrament will constantly enrich and sustain them in their love for him and for their loved ones. A special thank you to all the parents for their support and also to all our catechists for their dedication and generosity and example in giving of their time in bringing all the children to this most sacred of days.
